

GRAEME BURTON

TALKING TELEVISION

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE
STUDY OF TELEVISION

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	x
1 WHAT DO YOU MEAN, TELEVISION STUDIES?	1
Preview	1
Introduction	1
Object of study	2
Historically Speaking	3
Methodologies and Issues	7
Nature of Television	7
2 CRITICAL APPROACHES TO TELEVISION STUDIES	13
Preview	13
Introduction	13
Models of the Mass Media – Theoretical Approaches	14
Process Models – Key Concepts	19
Ideologies	19
Commodification	21
Representation	23
Mode of Address	24
Textual Analysis – Image Analysis; Semiotic Analysis; Structural Analysis	27
Discourse Analysis	31
Genre Study	32
Audience Study	34
Gender Studies	35
Cultural Studies	37
Postmodernism	39
3 INSTITUTIONS AND POWER: THE BRITISH TELEVISION INDUSTRIES	41
Preview	41
Dominant Institutions: The Balance of Power	41
Characteristics of Ownership	47
Finance and the Production Base	49
Power of Distribution	50

	Commercial Interests – Public-Service Broadcasting	50
	Regional Television	54
	Channel Identity and Programming	55
	Scheduling and Competition for the Audience	56
	Television among Leisure Industries	58
	Television among Information Industries	58
	British Television and Globalization	59
	Nature and Location of Power in Television	60
	Digital Revolution	66
4	TELEVISION PRODUCT: POINTS OF CONTACT	69
	Preview	69
	Introduction	69
	Product and Pleasure	70
	Titles and Understandings	75
	Product Continuity or Fragmentation	77
	Product and Personalities	77
	Intertextuality of Product	79
	Advertising as Product	83
	Genre Products	86
5	TELEVISION, NARRATIVE AND FORM	95
	Preview	95
	Television Output as Supernarrative	95
	Narrative and Realism	97
	Narrative and Mode of Address	99
	Narrators and Audience Positioning	99
	Forms of Narrative in Programmes	103
	Visual Narrative	107
	Narrative Structures and Meanings	108
	Characteristics of Fictional Television Narratives	116
6	TELEVISION NEWS	119
	Preview	119
	Introduction	119
	Picture Power: Sound Ideas	120
	News as Genre	121
	News as Drama	122
	News Narratives	123
	News Agenda and Social Reality	124
	News and Ideology – Selection and Construction – News Values	125
	News Representations, Deviancy and Moral Panics	128
	News Bias (Impartiality and Dominant Ideology)	130
	News as Professional Practice	132

	News as Commodity	132
	News as Discourse	133
	Gendered News	136
	Alternative Practices	138
7	TELEVISION AND REALISM	142
	Preview	142
	Introduction	142
	Authenticity and Intimacy	144
	Modes of Realism	147
	Degrees of Documentary	152
	Concealing and Revealing Social Practices – Realism and Ideology	160
	Postmodern Ironies – Intertextualities	161
	Case Study: A Short History of Documentary on Television	163
8	TELEVISION AND REPRESENTATIONS	170
	Preview	170
	Introduction – The Idea of Representations	170
	Stereotypes	172
	Identity	173
	Difference	174
	Naturalization	175
	Ideology	175
	Discourse	176
	Looking at the Image	176
	Gender, Women and Television – Soaps	179
	Soaps and Realism	188
	Youth Television	190
	Race and Television	193
	Crime, the Police and Television	202
9	AUDIENCES, MEANINGS AND EFFECTS	211
	Preview	211
	Introduction	211
	Constructed Audiences	213
	Active Audiences	215
	Consumption and Pleasure	217
	Effects Research (the Violence Debate)	219
	Children and Television	229
	Television Audiences and Access	232
10	BRITISH TELEVISION: REGULATION, CENSORSHIP AND CONSTRAINT	235
	Preview	235
	Introduction	235

Mechanisms and Processes of Censorship or Constraint	236
Changing Assumptions	244
Case Studies: the Falklands and Gulf Wars	248
Relationship between Government and Television	254
11 TELEVISION HISTORY	258
Preview	258
Introduction	258
Media Technology and Change	259
A Short History of Television	265
Government Committees and Reports in the History of Television	289
12 TELEVISION FUTURES	291
Preview	291
Introduction	291
ITV	291
BBC	292
Public-Service Broadcasting	294
Cable Television	295
Satellite Television	296
Digital Television	296
Television in the Global Marketplace	298
Boundaries of Form	299
Institutions and Technology – Convergence and Change	300
Technological Fantasies and Realities	301
Other Trends	302
Bibliography	303
Index of Companies and Channels	311
Index of Programmes	313
General Index	315