

Cities in Full

Steve Belmont

Recognizing and Realizing the Great Potential of Urban America

APA

Contents

---

Dedications	iii
Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	ix
Diminished Expectations and Stunted Visions
<hr/>
Part I: The Great Unrecognized Potential of the American City	1
Chapter 1 Jane Jacobs Revisited	3
Chapter 2 Gray Zones, Green Zones, Gold Zones, and Pure City	42
Chapter 3 Irrational Decentralization	80
<hr/>
Part II: Metropolitan Recentralization	137
Chapter 4 Recentralization of Commerce	139
Chapter 5 Recentralization of Housing	180
Chapter 6 Recentralization of Transportation Infrastructure	231
<hr/>
Part III: Poverty and Politics	289
Chapter 7 Decentralization of Poverty	291
Chapter 8 Recentralization of Affluence	342
<hr/>
Part IV: The Gray Zone	363
Chapter 9 Defending the Gray Zone	365
Chapter 10 Liberating the Gray Zone	417
<hr/>
Endnotes	452
Index	517

---