

The top of the cover features a decorative header with vertical stripes in dark red and black. A horizontal white line runs across the stripes, with several white rectangular boxes of varying sizes placed along it. The first box on the left contains the letters 'EL' in a bold, sans-serif font.

EL

Educational Linguistics

Information Technology in Languages for Specific Purposes

Issues and Prospects

Edited by Elisabet Arnó Macià
Antonia Soler Cervera
Carmen Rueda Ramos

 Springer

Contents

Contributing Authors	xi
Foreword by Mark Warschauer	xiii
Acknowledgments	xvii
Introduction
1
The Role of Information Technology in LSP: Some Central Issues	3
Elisabet Arnó, Antonia Soler and Carmen Rueda
PART I. Corpus-based studies
2
Corpus Linguistics and English for Academic Purposes	19
John M. Swales
3
Interaction in Academic Spoken English: The Use of 'I' and 'You' in the MICASE	35
Inmaculada Fortanet

4	Exploring Epistemic Modality in Academic Discourse Using Corpora Vassiliki Rizomilioti	53
---	--	----

PART II. Computer-mediated communication

5	Finding Common Ground in LSP: A Computer-Mediated Communication Project Christine Appel and Roger Gilabert	75
---	---	----

6	Uncovering Tasks and Texts - Teaching ESP through Online Workshops Virginia Hussin	91
---	---	----

7	The SMAIL Project. A Dialogic Approach to Computer-Assisted Language Learning for the LSP Classroom M. del Rosario Caballero and M. Noelia Ruiz	105
---	--	-----

PART III. Specific Technology-based Projects in Different Educational Settings

8	Technology for Trust, Collaboration, and Autonomy Among Asian Students at the University Level Claudia Devaux, Renate Otterbach, and Ying Ying Cheng	123
---	---	-----

9	Networking for Learning and Teaching English for Specific Purposes Deborah Healey	139
---	---	-----

PART IV. Technology and Learner Autonomy in Higher Education

10	Learning English with Computers at University Level David Lasagabaster and Juan Manuel Sierra	157
----	---	-----

11
Using the Internet to Promote Autonomous Learning in ESP 177
M. José Luzón and M. Isabel González

12
Integration of E-learning into a Tertiary Educational Context 191
Ruth Trinder

PART V. Terminology and Lexis: Teaching and Translation

13
The Development of a Computer Science Dictionary, or How 213
to Help Translating the Untranslatable
Jordi Piqué-Angordans, Santiago Posteguillo and Lourdes Melcion

14
The Importance of Key Words for LSP 231
Mike Scott

Conclusions

15
Information Technology in LSP: Prospects on a Brave New World 247
Elisabet Arnó, Antonia Soler and Carmen Rueda

Index 263