

The Literature Review

A Step-by-Step Guide for Students

Diana Ridley

SAGE Study Skills

Contents

| | |
|--|-----------|
| Acknowledgements | viii |
| List of tables and figures | ix |
| 1 Introduction | 1 |
| What is a literature review? | 2 |
| The literature review at different degree levels | 4 |
| Why is it important to undertake a literature review as part of your research? | 4 |
| Where do we find the literature review in a dissertation or thesis? | 7 |
| Structuring your literature review | 14 |
| Task 1.1 Choosing a literature review approach | 14 |
| Summary | 15 |
| Overview | 15 |
| 2 The multiple purposes of a literature review | 16 |
| The multiple purposes | 16 |
| Historical background | 18 |
| Contemporary context | 19 |
| Theoretical underpinnings | 20 |
| Definitions and discussion of terminology used in the research | 22 |
| Signalling a gap in previous research and using this to justify your own | 24 |
| The significance of a problem for research | 25 |
| Task 2.1 Reflecting on your own research | 27 |
| Summary | 28 |
| 3 Sources of information and conducting searches | 29 |
| What is a literature search? | 29 |
| What are the purposes of a literature search? | 30 |
| Sources of information | 31 |
| Different types of research | 33 |

| | |
|---|-----------|
| Tools for finding relevant sources | 34 |
| The process of conducting a literature search | 38 |
| The use of key words and Boolean logic | 40 |
| Task 3.1 Tracking and recording your search | 42 |
| Summary | 43 |
| 4 Reading and note taking strategies | 44 |
| Techniques for reading efficiently | 45 |
| Increasing your reading speed | 48 |
| Reasons for note taking | 49 |
| Techniques for note taking | 50 |
| Making connections between different texts: using key words | 52 |
| Techniques for writing a summary | 53 |
| Task 4.1 Applying the principles to your field | 58 |
| Summary | 59 |
| 5 Reference management: keeping records and organizing information | 60 |
| Managing the process | 60 |
| Bibliographical software packages | 64 |
| Task 5.1 Record keeping for your own research | 78 |
| Summary | 78 |
| 6 Structuring the literature review | 80 |
| The processes involved in the creation of a literature review | 80 |
| Beginning to write | 81 |
| The structure of the literature review | 82 |
| Developing the structure of your review | 84 |
| Task 6.1 Structuring your own literature review | 87 |
| The relationship between the introduction and the literature review | 87 |
| Task 6.2 Reflecting on your own research field | 95 |
| Summary | 95 |
| 7 In-text citations | 96 |
| Why do we reference? | 96 |
| What is plagiarism? | 97 |
| What type of information requires a reference? | 98 |
| Referencing systems | 99 |
| Integral and non-integral references | 101 |
| Types of citation | 105 |
| Choice of reporting verb | 108 |
| Tense of reporting verb | 109 |

| | |
|---|------------|
| Choice of tense in the clause or sentence where the information is reported | 112 |
| Effective and unacceptable citations | 113 |
| Task 7.1 Analysing reference techniques in your own research field | 115 |
| Summary | 116 |
| 8 Being critical | 117 |
| The difference between critical reading and critical writing | 117 |
| Being critical in writing | 118 |
| How different researchers adopt a critical approach in their writing | 120 |
| Task 8.1 Critical writing in your own research field | 129 |
| Summary | 130 |
| 9 Foregrounding writer voice | 131 |
| What is writer voice? | 131 |
| The organization of the text | 132 |
| The use of personal pronouns | 136 |
| The choice of citation pattern | 140 |
| The evaluative potential of different reporting verbs | 142 |
| Evaluative adjectives, adverbs and phrases | 145 |
| A mixture of evaluative strategies | 146 |
| Task 9.1 Reflecting on the writer's voice in your own research | 147 |
| Summary | 148 |
| 10 The continuing process | 149 |
| The literature review process | 149 |
| Referring to the literature in your discussion chapter | 151 |
| Task 10.1 Reflecting on making the connections in your own research | 158 |
| Summary | 159 |
| Conclusion | 160 |
| Electronic guides | 161 |
| References | 162 |
| Index | 164 |