

Michael J. Montesano and Patrick Jory, editors

Thai South and Malay North

Ethnic Interactions on a Plural Peninsula

Contents

List of Maps and Figures	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
A Note on Thai Terms and Names	xiii
Contributors	xv
Introduction	1
Michael J. Montesano and Patrick Jory

Part I Plural Historiographical Traditions

1. A Plural Peninsula	27
Anthony Reid
2. Historical Perceptions of Local Identity in the Upper Peninsula	39
Chuleeporn Virunha
3. Of a Lesser Brilliance: Patani Historiography in Contention	71
Davisakd Puaksom

Part II The Peninsula in the Age of Nation-States

4. Origins of Malay Muslim “Separatism” in Southern Thailand	91
Thanet Aphornsuvan
5. Elections and Political Integration in the Lower South of Thailand	124
James Ockey
6. National Identity, the “Sam-Sams” of Satun, and the Thai Malay Muslims	155
Kobkua Suwannathat-Pian

7. The Long March to Peace of the Malayan
Communist Party in Southern Thailand 173
Karl Hack

Part III Peninsular Chinese as Agents, Creoles, and Mediators

8. Penang's Big Five Families and Southern Siam During the Nineteenth Century 201
Wong Yee Tuan
9. Chinese-Malay-Thai Interactions and the Making of Kelantan Peranakan Chinese Ethnicity 214
Teo Kok Seong
10. Capital, State, and Society in the History of Chinese-Sponsored Education in Trang 231
Michael J. Montesano

Part IV Religious Pluralism and Competing Ethno-Nationalisms

11. Pilgrimage and the Making of Ethnic Identities on a
Plural Peninsula 275
Alexander Horstmann
12. Luang Pho Thuat and the Integration of Patani 292
Patrick Jory
13. The Mobility of Stories and the Expansive Spaces of Kelantanese Thai Religiosity 304
Irving Chan Johnson

- Afterword: Southern Thai and Malay Cultural Brotherhood 327
Suthiwong Phongphaibun

Notes 336

Glossary 373

Bibliography 375

Index 405