

The Society for Research into Higher Education

Academic Tribes and Territories

SECOND EDITION

Tony Becher and
Paul R. Trowler

Contents

Preface to the First Edition	ix
Preface to the Second Edition	xiii
Abbreviations	xvi
1 Landscapes, Tribal Territories and Academic Cultures	1
HE in the post-industrial environment	1
The globalized landscape	2
The phenomenon of massification	4
The regulatory state	6
The triple helix	7
Marketizing knowledge	8
Economy, efficiency and effectiveness	10
Patterns of growth and fragmentation	14
Changing landscapes, shifting territories	15
Levels of analysis	19
Note	22
2 Points of Departure	23
Relating tribes and territories	23
The source material	25
Academic cultures and structural location	27
Some landmarks in the argument	28
The pieces of the patchwork	29
Restrictions and paradigms	31
Knowledge as portrayed by the knower	33
Characteristics of subject matter	35
Notes	40
3 Academic Disciplines	41
The nature of a discipline	41
Disciplines and organizational structures	41

Global disciplines: unity and diversity	43
Tribalism and tradition	44
Disciplinary socialization	47
Some relevant writings	51
Some complicating factors	54
Notes	57
4 Overlaps, Boundaries and Specialisms	58
Adjoining territories	58
Areas of common ground	60
The cause of unification	62
Disciplines under the microscope	64
The notion of a specialism	65
Some social considerations	68
Some cognitive considerations	70
Types of specialization	71
Frames of reference	72
Notes	73
5 Aspects of Community Life	75
The quest for recognition	75
The way to get on	78
Pecking orders, elites and the Matthew effect	81
Leading academics, gatekeepers and the exercise of power	84
Peer review and the process of validation	86
Networks and social circles	90
The influence of fashion	95
Reactions to innovative ideas	97
The revolutionary and the normal	100
Notes	101
6 Patterns of Communication	104
The life-blood of academia	104
Population density	105
Urban and rural scenarios	106
Informal communication channels	108
Formal modes of interchange	110
Speed, frequency and length of publication	112
Citation practices and their implications	114
Questions of style and accessibility	116
Competition	118
Collaboration	122
Controversy	126
Some significant distinctions	128
Notes	129

7 Academic Careers	131
Personality and environment	131
Recruitment and the choice of specialisms	134
The achievement of independence	136
The mid-life crisis	140
The end-point of active research	144
Personal matters	147
Women's academic careers	149
Race, ethnicity and academic careers	153
Notes	156
8 The Wider Context	159
The academy in the marketplace	159
Academics as social animals	161
Outside influences on specialist groups	165
Disciplinary status and power	170
Knowledge domains and social relevance	176
Notes	179
9 Implications for Theory and Practice	181
Tidying up the categories	181
The basic dimensions	183
Applying the taxonomy	186
Connections between categories	189
A further note on status	191
Diversity and its consequences	194
Managerialist intervention and academic autonomy	200
Mutual understandings and common causes	204
Notes	206
Appendix: Data for the Initial Study	208
Subject coverage	208
Methods of data collection	208
Variables in the research design	211
Bibliography	213
Index	236
The Society for Research into Higher Education	239