

Libraries Unlimited Professional Guides for Young Adult Librarians Series

THE GUY-FRIENDLY YA LIBRARY

Serving Male Teens

Rollie James Welch

CONTENTS

Series Foreword	xv
Introduction	xvii
1 The Library Staff vs. Guys: Can't We Just Get Along?	1
How Libraries Unwittingly Alienate Teen Males	3
Things Valued by Disenfranchised Youth	4
Key Components for Quality Services for Teen Males	7
Professional Designated as a Teen Librarian	8
Library Promotion Materials for Teens	8
Know the Needs of Teens, Especially Teen Males	8
The Programming Dilemma	9
Establishing a Positive Young Adult Presence in the Library	11
The Adult Reference Desk and Homework Help	12
Selling Teen Services to the Administration	14
References	16
2 Understanding Teen Males	17
Physical Development of Teen Males	18
Physical Development, Teen Males, and Their Behavior	20

Library Structure and Teen Males	21
Teenage Boys and Girls Together in the Library	23
The Rite of Passage Into Manhood?	26
The Boys are Here, Now What?	27
Further Reading	29
3 Males as Readers: Their Reading Habits	31
Why do Some Teen Males Lose Interest in Reading?	32
Boys as Reluctant Readers	36
Defining Reluctant Readers	37
Engaging Reluctant Readers	38
Identifying Books for Reluctant Teen Male Readers	40
Book Selection Guidelines for Teen Male Reluctant Readers	40
It All Starts with the Cover	41
For Fiction: Does the First Page Excite?	42
For Fiction: Do the First 10 Pages Set the Pace?	42
For Fiction: Does the Book Follow through with the Initial Suggestion?	42
For Fiction: White Space	42
For Nonfiction: Does the Inside Content Support the Cover?	43
For Nonfiction: Does the Book Have Interesting Sections Throughout?	43
Guy-Appealing Content	45
Violence or at Least the Threat of Violence	45
Sex or at Least the Threat of Sex	45
Vampires or at Least the Threat of Vampires	45
Vehicles with Internal Combustion Engines	46
Popular Culture	46
How-to-Draw Books, Especially Cartooning Titles	46
Nonfiction Sports Books	46
Reaching Out to Teen Male Readers	47
Encouraging Teen Males to Become Lifelong Readers	50
Literature-Based Programs	51
Go Where the Boys Are	51
Fiction Books—Not Just The Hardy Boys Anymore	52
References	55
Works Cited	56

4	Reading and Boys: Topics of Interest	57
	Balance Fiction and Nonfiction	58
	What Do Guys Like to Read?	59
	Changes in Format	61
	Books are Becoming More Visual	63
	References	65
5	Books for Boys—Genres, Titles, and Topics	67
	Nonfiction for Teen Males	67
	Promoting Nonfiction in the Teen Area	69
	Display Titles Face-Out	69
	Themed Displays	70
	Music—Alternative, Hip-hop, Rap, and Heavy
	Metal	70
	Tattoos	70
	Wars—Especially the War in Iraq	71
	Cars and Car Repair	71
	Drawing Comics	71
	News Items Tie-Ins	72
	The Weird	72
	How-To Books: Must-have for Guys	73
	Biography: Better Alive Than Dead	74
	Music: Hit All the Stops on the Tour	77
	Military Books: Action Speaks Louder Than Words	79
	The More Action the Better	80
	Summary	81
	Fiction for Teen Males	81
	The Teen Problem Novel—It's Not a Guy Thing	81
	Fantasy Books—Beyond The Lord of the Rings	85
	Why Fantasy May Attract Teen Male Readers	86
	Beasts	86
	Magic	86
	Good versus Evil	87
	Heroes	87
	Danger, Violence, and Battles	87
	Science Fiction—It's A Big Universe Out There	89
	Horror, Suspense, Mystery—Is It All The Same?	94
	Suspense: A Guy Magnet	98
	Graphic Novels—The Comic Book Grows Up	100
	Manga—Reading Material from the Pacific Rim	103

Graphic Novels from the United States—Not the Same Old, Same Old	105
Historical Fiction—Do Guys Appreciate the Past?	106
Sports Stories—Not Just The ESPN Highlights	109
References	111
6 Engaging Teen Males in Library Programming and Teen     Advisory Boards	113
What's Wrong with Teen Programming?	114
Perceived Competition with the Children's Department	114
The Teen Services Position is Often a Split Job	115
The Library May Not Receive a Group of Teens with Open Arms	115
What's Right With Teen Programming?	115
The Forty Developmental Assets Tell Us This is a Good Thing	115
The Library's Image May Be Enhanced by Teen Programs	117
Teen Programming Puts the Professional in Touch with the Teen Patron	117
Deciding the Main Focus of a Program	118
The Librarian as an Entertainer	119
The Program Drives the Program	119
Bringing in Outsiders	121
The Big-Ticket Items—System-Wide Programs	121
Reading Clubs	122
Make the Registration as Easy as Possible	123
Choose a Theme That Sounds Cool	123
Incentives Can't Be Just Throw-Away Items	123
Allow Guy-Type Books	123
Teen Read Week	124
Programs with Guy Appeal	125
Chess for Success	126
Halloween Party	127
Cartooning	127
Anime Club	128
WWE Presentation	128
Poetry Slams	129
College Admissions Representative	129

YWCA	130
Search and Rescue Dogs	131
Teen Advisory Boards	131
Including Guys on the Teen Advisory Board	131
The Structure and Atmosphere of the Teen Advisory Board Meeting	132
Take the Pre-Meeting Organization upon Yourself	132
When to Schedule the Meetings	133
Food Is a Must	133
Avoid Being Overbearing	134
When the Teens (or Guys) Ask, "What's In It for Me?"	134
Call It Something Else	135
References	135
7 School Visits and Booktalks	137
Connecting With Schools	138
Budget Crunches Effect Both Public and School Libraries	138
The School Library Offers Fewer Hours of Access Than the Public Library	139
There Are Guys in the Schools	140
The Teachers Know the Students	140
The School Visit—A Game Plan	140
Booktalking at Schools—Make It Guy-Friendly	144
Types of Booktalks	146
Narrative	146
Synopsis	146
First Person Narrative	146
First Sentence	147
More Types of Books to Booktalk	147
Connecting with Middle School Boys through Booktalks	148
Connecting with High School Boys through Booktalks	148
Connecting with the Avid Teen Male Readers through Booktalks	149
Great Books That Connect with Male Readers through Booktalks	150
Reluctant Readers at School	152
How Schools Turn Guys Away from Reading	153

English Classes: Overanalyzing the Book	153
English Classes Tend to Exclude Nonfiction from the Curriculum	154
Advanced Classes Can Overload on the Classics	154
Truly Guy-Friendly Topics Are Often Excluded	155
The Fear Factor	156
Reading in the Content Area	156
Schools Can Interest Boys in Reading	157
Accelerated Reader	158
Sustained Silent Reading	159
Include Audiobooks	159
Introduce Short Stories	160
Come to an Understanding of Graphic Novels and Teen Magazines	160
Budget Cuts? Encourage Small Lending Libraries in Classrooms	160
Create Unique Ways to Evaluate Reading	161
How Public Libraries Hurt Reluctant Readers	162
Limited Budgets and Less than Full Teen Service	162
Lack of Focus for Nonfiction	162
Uncertainty about Audiobooks	163
Lack of Promotion of Reluctant Reader Titles	163
Collection Development	164
How Public Libraries Help Reluctant Readers	164
Accelerated Reader	164
A Strong Connection to the School	165
Graphic Novel Collections are Booming	165
Magazines are Not Just Research Tools	165
An Overall Positive Atmosphere	166
References	167
Further Reading	168
Suggested Web Sites	168
8 Actively and Passively Creating Library Services for Teen Males	169
The Teen Area—What Is It, Where Is It, and What Does It Look Like?	170
Patterning the Teen Space After a School Classroom	171
Avoid Choosing Only Feminine Decorations	171
Colors for Everyone, Not Just the Girls	172

Promotional Items—Include Guy Stuff	173
Wiring the Area—Insist on It	173
Homework Services to Male Teens	173
Library Materials May Overwhelm Guys	174
Reference Desk Atmosphere—An Alien Space?	175
Guys Google at Home	175
Databases—Less Is More	176
Teen Males and Homework Help	176
Tutorials for Online Databases	177
Access to the Schools	177
Teen Males and Librarians—Let’s Talk	178
Guy Topics in the Teen Nonfiction Collection	179
Homework Help Equals Customer Service	179
Teen Web Page	181
Displays in the Teen Area	182
References	184
Further Reading	185
Conclusion	187
Appendix—Essential Fiction Titles or Series for Teen Males	189
Index	193