

LIBRARIAN'S GUIDE TO

ONLINE SEARCHING

SUZANNE S. BELL

SECOND EDITION

Contents

Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xvii
1—DATABASE STRUCTURE FOR EVERYONE: RECORDS, FIELDS, AND INDEXES	1
Historical Background	1
Indexing and Abstracting Services	1
From Printed Volumes to Databases	3
Database Building Blocks	4
Fields and Records	4
Quick Recap	5
Beyond Fields and Records: Field Indexes	6
Quick Recap	11
Examples of Indexes	11
Exercises and Points to Consider	16
Suggested Reading	17
Notes	17
2—WORKING WITH DATABASES THE SEARCHER'S TOOLKIT: PART 1	19
Searcher's Toolkit: Part 1	19
Basic Tool No. 1: Boolean Logic	19
Quick Recap	24
Basic Tool No. 2: Controlled Vocabulary	24
Basic Tool No. 3: Field Searching	26
Terms in the Searching Lexicon	27
Quick Recap	28
Applying the Tools	29
MasterFILE Select : Notes and Search Examples	29

Exercises and Points to Consider.....	35
Notes	37
3—THE SEARCHER’S TOOLKIT: PART 2	39
Searcher’s Toolkit: Part 2.....	39
Basic Tool No. 4: Proximity Searching	39
Basic Tool No. 5: Truncation	43
Quick Recap	46
Basic Tool No. 6: Limits to Constrain Your Search	46
Basic Tool No. 7: “Pearl Growing”: A Useful Search Strategy	46
Quick Recap	48
Your Mental Toolkit	48
Summary and Advice	48
Exercises and Points to Consider.....	49
Suggested Reading	50
Notes	50
4—SOCIAL SCIENCE DATABASES	51
Introduction to Subject Databases	51
Library Literature & Information Science	52
Background and Coverage	52
Notes and Search Examples	52
Working with Results: Mark and Output	60
Quick Recap	61
ERIC via FirstSearch	61
Background and Coverage	61
Notes and Search Examples	62
Working with Results: Mark, Functions, and Output	70
Quick Recap	71
PsycINFO from Ovid	71
Background and Coverage	71
Notes and Search Examples	73
Working with Results: The “Results Manager”	81
Additional Feature: The PsycINFO Thesaurus	81
Quick Recap	81
Exercises and Points to Consider.....	83
Notes	85
5—DATABASES FOR SCIENCE AND MEDICINE	87
MEDLINE and PubMed.....	88
MEDLINE	88
PubMed: More than MEDLINE	93
Introduction to the PubMed Interface	94
Output in MEDLINE and PubMed	100
Getting to the Full Text	101
Quick Recap	101
The Web of Science and the Citation Indexes	102

History of the Citation Indexes	102
Web of Science Content	103
An Index Focused on Citations	103
Additional Differences in Available Fields	104
Searching the Web of Science : Main Search Interface	105
Cited Reference Searching	108
E-mail, Print, Save, or Export Results	115
Advanced Features: Advanced Search and Analyze	117
Quick Recap	118
Exercises and Points to Consider	119
Notes	121
6—BIBLIOGRAPHIC DATABASES	123
WorldCat: The “OPAC of OPACs”	124
Background and Coverage	124
A Tool for Many Parts of the Library	125
Notes and Search Examples	126
Quick Recap	135
WorldCat.org	136
Background: The Path to WorldCat.org	136
Notes and Search Examples	138
Quick Recap	142
Revisiting Your Local OPAC	143
Exercises and Points to Consider	143
Notes	144
7—HUMANITIES DATABASES	147
America: History and Life	148
Background and Coverage	148
Notes and Search Examples	148
Related Records, Folder, and Output Options	154
Quick Recap	157
MLA International Bibliography	158
Background and Coverage	158
The Marked List and Output	166
Additional Feature: Directory of Periodicals	169
Quick Recap	169
Exercises and Points to Consider	171
Notes	172
8—NUMERICAL DATABASES	173
Finding Numbers	173
Concepts about Numbers	174
Quick Recap	177
A Comment about Searching for Numbers	177
LexisNexis Statistical	177
Background and Coverage	177
Notes and Search Examples	179

Working with Results: “Tag” and Output	188
Going from LexisNexis Statistical to Web Sites	189
American Factfinder	190
Background and Coverage	190
Notes and Search Examples	190
Bureau of Labor Statistics	195
Pay & Benefits at the Bureau of Labor Statistics	196
Occupation Information at the Bureau of Labor Statistics	199
Quick Recap	200
Numbers and the Reference Interview	201
Exercises and Points to Consider	201
Suggested Readings	202
Notes	202
9—FOCUS ON PEOPLE	205
Part 1: Information-seeking Behavior	206
Some Theoretical Background on Information Seeking	206
Applied Research on Information-seeking Behavior	208
Quick Recap	213
Part 2: The Reference Interview	213
What Is the Real Question?	214
Question Negotiation in the Reference Interview	216
Beyond the Face-to-Face Reference Interview	220
Why Is the Reference Interview So Important?	222
Quick Recap	222
Exercises and Points to Consider	223
Suggested Readings	223
Notes	223
10—CHOOSING THE RIGHT RESOURCE FOR THE QUESTION	225
Start with the Reference Interview	226
Questions for Databases	226
Why and When to Try a Database	226
Quick Recap	229
Choosing a Database	230
Questions for the Web	232
Personal Uses of the Web	232
Professional Uses of the Web	232
Quick Recap	234
Exercises and Points to Consider	234
Suggested Reading	234
Notes	234
11—EVALUATING DATABASES	237
Basic Facts and Figures	238
Initial Factual Information to Gather	238

Testing and Benchmarking	242
Testing	242
Benchmarking	247
Making a Request for Purchase	249
Elements to Include in the Request	249
Exercises and Points to Consider	251
Suggested Readings	251
Notes	252

12—TEACHING OTHER PEOPLE ABOUT DATABASES 253

Teaching Principles	254
Principle 1: Teach to Your Audience	255
Principle 2: Avoid Lecturing	255
Principle 3: Wait for Answers	256
Principle 4: Less Is More	257
Principle 5: Transparency in Teaching	257
Principle 6: You Have the Right to Be Wrong	258
Principle 7: Teaching with Technology	258
Principle 8: Practice	259
Database Teaching Opportunities	260
Teaching at the Reference Desk	261
Teaching an Information Literacy Session	261
A Staff Presentation	266
The Full Semester Class	267
Exercises and Points to Consider	268
Suggested Readings	268
Notes	269
References	271
Index	283