

Negri

TIME FOR REVOLUTION

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Translator's Introduction	1

The Constitution of Time

Preamble	21
1 First Displacement: the time of subsumed being	23
1.1 Time-as-measure and productive time	23
1.2 Tautology and composition	29
1.3 An Umwelt of antagonism	35
1.4 Displacement, hysteresis, asymmetry, innovation	40
2 First Construction: collective time A	46
2.1 Ascesis and ecstasy: analytic of circulation	46
3 First Construction: collective time B	51
3.1 Crisis: towards a phenomenology of collective praxis	51
4 Second Construction: productive time A	60
4.1 Money, value, nomenclature: between timepiece and war	60
4.2 Energy: evanescence of space	65

5	Second Construction: productive time B	67
5.1	Refusal of work and productive co-operation	67
5.2	Internal time and external time	72
6	Third Construction: constitutive time A	77
6.1	The hard time of the State: information and legitimation	77
7	Third Construction: constitutive time B	86
7.1	Time of class struggle: the new institutionality	86
7.2	Pluralism and dualism: on the logical matrices	92
7.3	The body and the time of constitution	96
8	Second Displacement: the time of the revolution W	101
8.1	The project and death: now-time ( Jetzt-Zeit )	101
8.2	Endogenous processes and exogenous processes: analytic and catastrophe	108
9	Third Displacement: the time of the revolution Y	113
9.1	The time machine	113
9.2	Constitution and class struggle	115
	Afterword	120

Kairòs, Alma Venus, Multitudo

Introduction	131
Kairòs	139
Prolegomena	139
The common name	139
The immeasurable	149
The materialist field	158

Alma Venus	170
Prolegomena	170
The common	170
Poverty	181
Love	195
Multitudo	209
Prolegomena	209
Politics	209
Living labour	217
The decision	229
Notes	243
Bibliography	264