

English for Specific Purposes

Edited by Thomas Orr

Case Studies in TESOL Practice Series
Jill Burton, Series Editor

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Series Editor's Preface	ix
INTRODUCTION: The Nature of English for Specific Purposes Thomas Orr	1
 PART 1: ESP FOR LANGUAGE LEARNERS IN THE UNIVERSITY
CHAPTER 1: An ESP Program for Students of Law Christine Feak and Susan Reinhart	7
CHAPTER 2: An ESP Program for Students of Nursing Virginia Hussin	25
CHAPTER 3: An ESP Program for Students of Business Frances Boyd	41
CHAPTER 4: An ESP Program for Students of Tourism Simon Magennis	57
CHAPTER 5: An ESP Program for Students of Shipbuilding Elena López Torres and María Dolores Perea Barberá	71
CHAPTER 6: An ESP Program for International Teaching Assistants Dean Papajohn, Jane Alsberg, Barbara Bair, and Barbara Willenborg	89
 PART 2: ESP FOR LANGUAGE LEARNERS IN THE WORKPLACE
CHAPTER 7: An ESP Program for International Medical Graduates in Residency Susan Eggly	105

CHAPTER 8: An ESP Program for Management in the Horse-Racing Business	117
Rob Baxter, Tim Boswood, and Anne Peirson-Smith
CHAPTER 9: An ESP Program for Entry-Level Manufacturing Workers	147
Judith Gordon
CHAPTER 10: An ESP Program for Union Members in 25 Factories	161
Paula Garcia
CHAPTER 11: An ESP Program for Brewers	175
Liliana Orsi and Patricia Orsi
CHAPTER 12: An ESP Program for a Home-Cleaning Service	189
Patricia Noden
References	205
Index	213