

I.S.P. Nation

TEACHING
VOCABULARY

Strategies and Techniques

Contents

Preface	xii
Acknowledgements	xiii
Chapter 1 The Big Picture	1
The teacher's jobs	1
The learners' jobs	6
What vocabulary?	7
Deciding which words are high frequency, academic, technical, or low frequency	12
How should the various types of words be dealt with in class?	13
Testing to see what words to focus on	15
Chapter 2 Vocabulary and Listening	17
How much vocabulary and what vocabulary do you need for listening?	17
How can you test the size of your learners' listening vocabulary?	17
How can you use listening activities to deliberately teach new vocabulary?	19
How can you support vocabulary learning through meaning-focused input through listening?	22
How can you develop fluency in listening?	35
Chapter 3 Vocabulary and Speaking	37
How much vocabulary and what vocabulary do you need to speak English?	37
How can you test your learners' spoken vocabulary?	38

How can you use speaking activities to help learners to deliberately produce vocabulary?	41
How can you support vocabulary learning through meaning-focused output through speaking?	43
How can you develop fluency in speaking?	56

Chapter 4

Vocabulary Learning and Intensive Reading	59
Preteaching	59
Simplifying	61
Adding a glossary	62
Putting words in an exercise after the text	63
Quickly giving the meaning	63
Doing nothing about the word	63
Helping learners use the context to guess the meaning of a word	64
Helping learners use a dictionary	64
Using word parts to help a word be remembered	65
Spending time on explaining a word	65

Chapter 5

Vocabulary Learning Through Extensive Reading	69
Understand the goals and limitations of extensive reading	70
Find your learners' present vocabulary level	71
Provide plenty of interesting and appropriate reading texts	72
Set, encourage, and monitor large quantities of extensive reading	72
Train learners in guessing from context	74
Support and supplement extensive reading with language-focused learning and fluency development	78
Help learners move systematically through the graded reader levels	79
Simplified and unsimplified texts	80
The extensive reading program	82

- How much and what vocabulary do you need for writing? 83
- How can you test the size of your learners' written vocabulary? 84
- How can you deliberately teach vocabulary for writing? 85
- How can you support vocabulary learning through meaning-focused input? 90
- How can you develop fluency in writing? 96

- Ways of quickly giving attention to words 98
- What is involved in knowing a word 99
- Vocabulary exercises that require little or no preparation 101
- Prepared vocabulary exercises 102
- Giving repeated attention to vocabulary 103
- Deliberate learning from word cards 104
- Using dictionaries 114
- Multi-word units 117
- The unknown-to-known imaging strategy 123

- What is academic vocabulary? 125
- How was the Academic Word List made? 126
- Why is academic vocabulary important? 128
- Why is there an academic vocabulary? 129
- How can we test learners' knowledge of the academic vocabulary? 129
- What should a teacher do about academic vocabulary? 130
- What is technical vocabulary? 133
- How do you decide what vocabulary is technical? 133
- The nature of technical vocabulary 135
- Implications for teaching 136

Chapter 9	Testing Vocabulary Knowledge	141
	What vocabulary do my learners need?	141
	The Vocabulary Levels Test	141
	Making vocabulary tests	144
	Evaluating vocabulary tests	153
 Chapter 10	 Planning the Vocabulary Component of a Language Course	 157
	Find the learners' present level	158
	Find what use the learners will make of the language	158
	Decide on what and how much vocabulary to learn	158
	Divide the learning time equally between the four strands	159
	Decide how progress through the course will be tested	160
	Decide how the vocabulary component of the course will be evaluated	160
 Appendix 1	 The General Service List	 163
 Appendix 2	 The Academic Word List	 173
 Appendix 3	 The Vocabulary Levels Test	 177
 Appendix 4	 A Vocabulary Size Test	 183

Appendix 5	The Productive Vocabulary Levels Test	199
Appendix 6	A Survival Language Learning Syllabus for Foreign Travel	205
	References	209
	Index	217