

“A must read for all those interested in a profession that will enable them to grow and be rewarded by serving others in the process...”

—Jean P. Shipman, MLA President
2006–2007, from the Foreword

The Accidental
Health Sciences
Librarian

Lisa A. Ennis and Nicole Mitchell

Contents

Foreword , by Jean P. Shipman	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
About the Website	xi
Introduction	xiii
Chapter 1: Health Sciences Librarianship	1
Help! My Degree Is in English	3
Don't All Health Sciences Librarians Work in a Hospital or Medical School Library?	4
Conclusion	23
Chapter 2: Putting the Medical in Health Sciences Librarianship	27
National Library of Medicine: A Brief History	28
Regional Medical Library Program and National Network of Libraries of Medicine	29
Index-Catalogue and Index Medicus	30
National Library of Medicine Classification System	34
Medical Subject Headings	35
Cumulative Index to Nursing and Allied Health Literature Headings	42
Medical Terminology	43
Chapter 3: It's All About the People	47
Reference	48
Consumer Health: You Need a License to Practice Medicine	49
The People	56
Areas to Watch	59
Outreach and Marketing	69

Chapter 4: Technology	77
Communicating With IT	79
Managing Your Expectations and Attitude	82
Keeping Up	85
The Web and Social Networking	92
Chapter 5: Databases and Resources	101
Article and Citation Databases	101
Point of Need Resources	107
PDA Resources	113
Evidence-Based Medicine Resources	117
Specialized Databases and Resources	120
The Art of Negotiation	123
Chapter 6: Resources and Networking	125
Associations	125
Blogs	132
RSS Feeds	135
Literature	136
Lists	141
Training	142
Credentialing	145
Peers	147
Where To Go From Here	147
Appendix A: The Accidental Health Sciences Librarian Survey	151
Appendix B: Selected Responses to Survey Questions	155
Appendix C: Selected Health Sciences Library Associations	163
Appendix D: Selected Health Sciences Organizations	167

Recommended Reading	169
Websites	181
Glossary	193
About the Authors	195
Index	199