

The Many Faces
of School Library
Leadership

Sharon Coatney, Editor

Contents

Introduction	ix
Sharon Coatney
1. Leadership from the Middle: Building Influence for Change	1
Ken Haycock
Leadership Is about Specific Competencies	2
Leadership Is about Specific Behaviors	4
Leadership Is about Relationships	5
Leadership Is about Influence	6
Above All, Leadership Is about You	8
Conclusion	11
2. Librarians as Learning Leaders: Cultivating Cultures of Inquiry	13
Violet H. Harada
Critical Dimensions of Thoughtful Learning	13
Learning Is Not Just about Facts : It Encompasses More Than Cognitive Knowledge	14
Learning Goes Beyond Comprehension : It Requires Demonstration of Critical Understanding	14
Learning Should Be Hands On and Minds On : It Requires Active Intellectual Engagement	14
Learning Demands Connections : It Requires Construction of Knowledge That Is Personally Meaningful	15
Learning Is about Thinking Together : It Involves a Social Process of Making Meaning	15
Qualities and Dispositions of Learning Leaders	16
Learning Leaders Facilitate the Creation of a Shared Vision and Mission Regarding Student Learning	16

CONTENTS

Learning Leaders Understand and Apply the Learning Theories That Serve as the Foundation for Their Vision	17
Learning Leaders Must Know the Research Underpinning Meaningful Learning	18
Learning Leaders Engage Students and Peers in Thoughtful Inquiry	19
Learning Leaders Believe in the Synergy and Power of Learning Communities and Teamwork	19
The Bottom Line: Learning Leaders Model the Behaviors and Attitudes They Wish to Inspire in Others	20
Librarians as Potential Leaders in Learning	20
Snapshot 1: Librarian as a Model Teacher of Thinking Strategies	21
Snapshot 2: Librarian as an Active Researcher	22
Snapshot 3: Librarian as a Builder of Professional Learning Communities	23
Snapshot 4: Librarian as an Advocate for Evidence-Based Practice of Student Learning	24
Conclusion	25
3. The School Librarian as an Advocacy Leader	29
Deb Levitov
What Is Advocacy?	29
Variations of Advocacy	29
Effective Advocacy	30
Advocacy with Administrators	31
Lack of Knowledge	31
The Role of the School Librarian	32
Background Knowledge Equals Impact	33
The Importance of Language	34
Advocacy in Action	35
Involving Others	35
Action Planning	35
Having a Web Presence	36
Grant Writing	36
Getting a Seat at the Table . . .	36
Evidence of Student Learning	37
Legislative Action	37
Waiting for the Tipping Point—Myth or Possibility?	38
Conclusion	39
4. Intellectual Freedom: Leadership to Preserve Minors' Rights in School Library Media Programs	43
Helen R. Adams
Defining Leadership	43
Leadership to Provide Access to Information	44
The Selection Policy	44
Selection of Library Media Program Resources	44
Leadership to Protect Access to Information	48
Preparing for a Challenge	48

Contents

Oral Complaints	49
When a Challenge Occurs	50
Other Responsibilities during a Challenge	51
The Reconsideration Committee	51
Soliciting Support for Retention of the Library Resource	52
Managing Media Coverage	52
When the Challenge Is Over	53
Other Barriers to Access	53
Intellectual Freedom Online	53
Building Support for Less Restrictive Filtering	54
Privacy	55
Advocacy@ Your School Library	60
Advocacy with Principals	60
Teaching Teachers about Intellectual Freedom	61
Educating Students about Intellectual Freedom	62
Reaching Out to Families	63
Conclusion	63
5. Literacy Leadership and the School Library	67
Doug Achterman
Part I: Creating and Communicating a Vision for Literacy	68
Part II: Modeling and Promoting a Love of Reading	69
Part III: Remembering Ranganathan: Collecting for Your Population and Creating a System That Works for Students and Staff	71
Books Are for Use	72
Every Reader His Book	72
Part IV: Working with the School Site and District to Create Complementary Goals	74
Part V: Becoming a Literacy Expert and Sharing Knowledge with Staff	76
Part VI: Collaborating with Teachers to Plan, Teach, and Evaluate Lessons That Promote Literacy	78
Part VII: Deepening Our Understanding of How Literacy Is Changing	79
Conclusion	82
6. The Teacher-Librarian as a Curriculum Leader	85
Jody K. Howard
Introduction	85
Leadership—Initial Thoughts	86
What Is Curriculum?	86
Information Specialist—Curriculum Content	87
Information Specialist—Curriculum Mapping	88
Curriculum Mapping—Horizontal	88
Curriculum Mapping—Vertical (Scope and Sequence)	89
Information Specialist—Collection Mapping	90
Information Specialist—Additional Considerations	91
Instructional Partner	92
Instructional Partner—Curriculum Planning	92
Instructional Partner—Inquiry-Based Learning	93

CONTENTS

Curriculum Responsibilities at the District, State, and National Levels	94
Leadership Revisited	94
Leadership Qualities	95
Leadership Skills—Information Specialist	95
Leadership Skills—Instructional Partner	96
Conclusion	97
7. Pride and Prejudice and Technology Leadership	101
Kristin Fontichiaro
Prologue	101
My Perspective	102
Changing the Paradigm	102
Keeping Up	104
Gathering Diverse Perspectives	106
Questioning	108
Empathy and Interconnectedness	109
Walking the Tightrope between Responsible Innovation and Foolish Risk	110
Embracing Flexible Thinking	111
Keeping the “Educational” in Educational Technology	111
Saving Time for Self-Reflection	112
Conclusion	113
8. Staff Development—Teacher-Librarians as Learning Leaders	115
Janice Gilmore-See
Unique Role of Teacher-Librarians	115
Leading Professional Learning Communities	117
Teaching Teachers: Teacher-Librarian as Learning Leader	118
Technology Trainer	119
Practical Tips for Teacher-Librarians When Presenting to Colleagues	120
9. Leadership and Your Professional School Library Association	123
Blanche Woolls
Training to Be Leaders	124
Places for Leadership Practice in Associations	125
Finding a Mentor	125
Achieving Your Role in Association Leadership	126
Working as a Committee Member	126
Working as an Officer	129
Attending Conferences	129
Legislative Efforts of Associations	130
10. Shifting Our Vision for Our Futures: Leadership as a Foundational Element for Teacher-Librarians	133
David V. Loertscher
Index	137
About the Editor and Contributors	145