

Counselling and Therapy Techniques

Theory and Practice

Augustine Meier and Micheline Boivin

Contents

Author Biographies	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
1 Theoretical Bridges and the Psychotherapy Process	1
Introduction	1
Epistemological Foundations	2
Psychotherapeutic Content – Client Experiences	4
Encoding Experiences	5
Psychic Organisations and Processes	6
Target of Change: Behaviour or Reworking and Rebuilding Psychic Organizations	7
Phases of the Change Process and Techniques	8
Techniques and the Therapeutic Relationship	9
Therapist – Client Collaboration	10
Discriminate Use of a Technique	12
Ethical Considerations and the Use of Techniques	13
References	14
2 Empathic Responses	16
Introduction	16
Empathy: Origin and Definitions	17
Theoretical Aspects	17
Measuring Accurate Empathy	21
The Technique of Empathic Responding	22
Guidelines for Formulating and Communicating Empathic Responses	24
Common Problems and Empathic Inhibitors	25
Illustration: Tania	26
References	30
3 The Experiential Focusing Technique	32
Introduction	32
Theoretical Aspects	33
The Practice of Experiential Focusing	37
Illustration: Simone	41
References	45
4 The Gestalt Empty-Chair and Two-Chair Techniques	46
Introduction	46
Part 1: Personality Organization and Processes	47

Contents

Primary motivating factor	47
Contact and contact boundary	47
Stages of personality development	48
Subsystems of personality	48
Processes of personality development	48
Organismic self-regulation	49
Boundary disturbances	49
Therapeutic goals, role of therapist and techniques	50
Part 2: The Gestalt Empty-Chair Technique	50
Unfinished Business	51
The Gestalt empty-chair technique in action	52
Illustration: Robert	53
Part 3: The Gestalt Two-Chair Technique	55
Theoretical aspects	55
Procedures using the Gestalt Two-Chair technique	56
Illustration: Rick	57
Conclusion	59
References	60
5 The Use of Metaphors in Therapy	61
Introduction	61
Metaphor: Definition, Structure, and Power	62
Client-Generated Metaphors	64
Types of Client-Generated Metaphors	65
Techniques to Unravel Metaphors	66
Eliciting and Exploring Client-Generated Metaphors	67
Pitfalls in Using Metaphors	69
Ethical Considerations	71
Illustration: Karen	72
References	75
6 Task-Directed Imagery	77
Introduction	77
Imagery in Context	78
Task-Directed Imagery	80
Illustration: Maylyn	86
References	89
7 Ego-State Therapy	91
Introduction	91
Ego States: Major Concepts, Development, and Activation	92
The Practice of Ego-State Therapy	96
Illustration: Sonja	99
References	104
8 Solution-Focused Therapy	105
Introduction	105

Theoretical Aspects	106
The Practice of Solution-Focused Therapy	108
Procedures for Doing Solution-Focused Therapy	112
Illustration: Colleen	115
References	119
9 Cognitive-Behavioural Therapy	120
Introduction	120
Part 1: Theoretical Aspects	121
Theory of Personality	121
Theory of Psychopathology	123
Part 2: Psychotherapy Procedures and Techniques	125
Goal of Therapy	125
Fundamental Clinical Processes	125
Psychotherapeutic Techniques	127
Part 3: Working with Automatic Thoughts	128
Procedures	128
Illustration: Sébastien	130
Part 4: Working with Schemas	131
Classification of Schemas	131
Schema Processes	131
Procedures	132
Illustration: Sébastien	133
References	136
10 Narrative Therapy	137
Introduction	137
Theoretical Influences	139
Theoretical Aspects	141
The Practice of Narrative Therapy	142
Method in Working with Narratives	145
Ethical Considerations	147
Illustration: Sonja	148
References	152
11 Self-in-Relationship Psychotherapy	154
Introduction	154
Major Concepts and Processes	155
Therapeutic Process	162
Illustration: Sofia	164
References	170
Epilogue	172
Glossary	175
Index	180