

beyond blood identities

POSTHUMANITY IN THE TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY

JASON D. HILL

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
Chapter 1: Moral Reasoning from a Cosmopolitan Perspective: The Problem of Culture	19
I. Culturalism and Moral Reasoning	35
II. Toward a Moral Conceptual Base of Culture	42
III. Cosmopolitanism: A Definition and the Question of Tolerance	45
Chapter 2: Who Owns Culture? A Moral Cosmopolitan Inquiry	57
I. Culture-Faith: The Mystification of Culture	57
II. Culture-Faith Applied: Cultural Privacy and the Ownership of Native Culture	65
III. Counterarguments against Applied Culture Faith: The Right to Cultural Privacy	72
IV. Representation without Authorization	75
V. Who Has the Right to Speak for Whom?	78
VI. Ethnocide or Culture Killings: Is It So Bad?	81
VII. Dismantling the Tribes from Within: Modernization and the Capabilities Approach	90

Chapter 3: Moral Culture Is Public Culture: Cosmopolitanism and Culture Warfare	107
I. Sylvia Plath: "Daddy" and the Creation of Moral Culture	108
II. Moral Incommensurability and the Clash of Cultures	115
III. The Anatomy of Antiassimilationism and the Logic of Contagion	120
IV. The Cult of Death and the Worship of Ancestry: The Genesis of Group Narcissism	126
Chapter 4: The Psychopathology of Tribalism	137
I. The Tribalist as Moral Appropriator	137
II. Symbolic Ethnicity	140
III. Ethnic versus Ethnic: The Problem of Definition	144
IV. Tribalism, Untouchability, and Human Slime	150
V. The Art of Symbolic Necrophilia	155
VI. Imagistic and Emblematic Representations: Tribal Epistemology and the Impossibility of Knowing the Other	160
VII. Moral Masochism and Black Identity: A Tragic Tale	166
VIII. Jim in Africa	171
Chapter 5: Theorizing Posthumanity: Radical Inclusion, Jews as the Chosen People, and the Identity Politics of St. Paul	177
I. Laissez-Faire Existential Engagement	183
II. Posthuman in the Flesh: Jews and the Fragility of Chosenness	188
III. How God Became a Cosmopolitan	193
IV. The Identity Politics of St. Paul	205
Appendix: Conscientious Objections to Cosmopolitanism: A Response	215
Bibliography	237
Index	243
About the Author	251