

① Speaking in Public	1	Audiences Who Are Confused	36
The Power of Ethical Public Speaking	2	Audiences Who Plan Their Responses Rather Than Listen	37
Culture and Speaking Style	5
What Is Ethical Public Speaking?	6
Public Speaking Creates a Community	7
Public Speaking Is Audience Centered	8
Public Speaking Encourages Ethical Dialogue	9
A Model of the Public Speaking Process	10
Building Your Confidence as a Public Speaker	11
Do Your Research	14
Practice Your Speech	14
Have Realistic Expectations	14
Practice Visualization and Affirmations	15
Connect with Your Audience	17
② Listening	19
Why Listen to Others?	19
Why We Sometimes Fail to Listen	20
Listener Interference	20
Speaker Interference Caused by Information	21
Speaker Interference Caused by Language	23
Speaker Interference Caused by Differences	29
How to Listen Carefully	30
How to Listen Critically	31
How to Listen Ethically	33
Suspend Judgment	33
Assess Information and Respond to the Speaker's Ideas	34
Speakers as Listeners: Adapting to Your Audience	34
Audiences Who Think They Aren't Interested	34
Audiences Who Are Distracted or Disruptive	36
③ Speech Topic and Purpose	40
How Context Influences Your Speaking Goals	41
Deciding to Speak	41
Being Asked to Speak	41
Being Required to Speak	42
Choosing Your Speech Topic	42
The Classroom Setting	43
Choosing Your Topic When You Are Required to Speak	43
Brainstorming	47
Narrowing Your Topic When You Are Asked to or Decide to Speak	50
Articulating Your Purpose	50
General Speaking Purposes	51
Specific Speaking Purposes	51
Stating Your Thesis	55
④ Audience and Speaking Environment	61
Considering an Audience as a Group of Diverse People	62
Master Statuses	62
Standpoints, Attitudes, Beliefs, and Values	64
Demographic Audience Analysis	65
Considering an Audience as a Community	66
Voluntary Audiences	66
Involuntary Audiences	67
Considering Your Speaking Environment	68
Size and Physical Arrangement	68
Technology	69
Temporal Factors	71

Adapting to Audience Expectations	73
Expectations about the Speaker	73
Expectations about the Form of a Speech	75
Expectations about Discussions	76

Supporting Materials

Determine What Types of Information You Need

Use Your Personal Knowledge and Experience	81
---	-----------

Search for Materials on the Internet	81
The Ethics of Internet Research	81
Evaluating Internet Information	83

Research Materials at the Library	84
Orientations and Librarians	84
Library Catalogs	85
Databases and Indexes	86
Government Documents	87
Reference Works	88
Evaluating Library Resources	89

Conduct Research Interviews	90
Determine Whom to Interview	90
Schedule the Interview	90
Prepare for the Interview	91
Conduct the Interview	93
Follow Up the Interview	93
Ethical Interviews	93

Research Tips	94
Begin by Filling Out Your Research Inventory	94
Take Notes and Keep Copies	94
Avoid Plagiarism	95
Set Up a Filing System	95
Gather More Material Than You Think You'll Need	96
Begin Your Bibliography with Your First Source	96

Citing Sources	98
Citing Sources Is Ethical	98
Citing Sources Adds Credibility	98
Rules for Citing Sources	98

Developing and Supporting Ideas

Examples

Use Examples to Clarify Concepts	102
Use Examples to Reinforce Points	104
Use Examples to Bring Concepts to Life or to Elicit Emotions	104
Use Examples to Build Your Case or Make Credible Generalizations	104

Narratives

Use Narratives to Personalize a Point	106
Use Narratives to Challenge an Audience to Think in New Ways	107
Use Narratives to Draw an Audience in Emotionally	107
Use Narratives to Unite with Your Audience	108

Statistics

Types of Statistics	110
Use Statistics to Synthesize Large Amounts of Information	113
Use Statistics When the Numbers Tell a Powerful Story	113
Use Statistics When Numerical Evidence Strengthens a Claim	113

Testimony

Use Testimony When You Need the Voice of an Expert	117
Use Testimony to Illustrate Differences or Agreements	117
Use Your Own Testimony When Your Experience Says It Best	118
Paraphrase Testimony to Improve Listenability	118

Definitions

Use Definitions to Clarify and Create Understanding	121
Use Definitions to Clarify an Emotionally or Politically Charged Word	122
Use Definitions to Illustrate What Something Is Not	122
Use Definitions to Trace the History of a Word	122

7 Reasoning	125	9 Introductions and Conclusions	172
Patterns of Reasoning	126	The Introduction	172
Induction, or Reasoning from Specific Instances	126	Catch the Audience's Attention	173
Deduction, or Reasoning from a General Principle	129	Reveal the Topic of Your Speech	173
Causal Reasoning	130	Establish Your Credibility	173
Analogical Reasoning	133	Preview Your Speech	173
Reasoning by Sign	136	Preparing a Compelling Introduction	174
A Map of Reasoning	137	Ask a Question	174
Tips for Reasoning Ethically	139	Tell a Story	175
Build Your Credibility	140	Recite a Quotation or a Poem	175
Use Accurate Evidence	140	Give a Demonstration	176
Verify the Structure of Your Reasoning	140	Make an Intriguing or Startling Statement	178
		State the Importance of the Topic	179
		Share Your Expertise	180
		State What's to Come	180
		Tips for Your Introduction	182
8 Organization and Outlining	142	The Conclusion	182
Organize for Clarity	142	End Your Speech	183
Main Points	144	Reinforce Your Thesis Statement	183
Identify Your Main Points	144	Preparing a Compelling Conclusion	184
Use an Appropriate Number of Main Points	145	Summarize Your Main Points	184
Order Your Main Points	147	Answer Your Introductory Question	184
Tips for Preparing Main Points	151	Refer Back to the Introduction	185
Connectives	153	Recite a Quotation	185
Transitions	153	Tips for Your Conclusion	185
Internal Previews	154
Internal Summaries	154	10 Language	189
Signposts	155	Language Is Ambiguous	190
The Preparation Outline	156	Language and Culture	192
Title, Specific Purpose, and Thesis Statement	156	Language and Gender	195
Introduction	157	Language and Accuracy	196
Main Points, Subpoints, and Sub-Subpoints	157	Language and Public Speaking	197
Conclusion	159	Spoken Language Is More Interactive	197
Connectives	159	Spoken Language Is More Casual	197
Works Cited	160	Spoken Language Is More Repetitive	198
Tips for the Preparation Outline	160	Language, Imagery, and Rhythm	198
The Speaking Outline	166	Language That Creates Memorable Imagery	198
Tips for the Speaking Outline	167	Language That Creates a Pleasing Rhythm	200
Note Cards	168

11	Delivery	205	What to Show on a Visual Aid	230
	Methods of Delivery	206	Lists	231
	Extemporaneous Delivery	206	Charts	232
	Impromptu Delivery	208	Graphs	233
	Manuscript Delivery	209	Drawings	235
	Memorized Delivery	210	Photographs	235
			Maps	236
	Verbal Components of Delivery	211	Formats for Visual Aids	238
	Volume	211	Font Style and Size	238
	Rate	212	Color	239
	Pitch and Inflection	212	Balance	241
	Pauses	213
	Articulation	214	Guidelines for Effective and Ethical Use of
	Pronunciation	215	Visual Aids	241
	Dialect	215
	Nonverbal Components of Delivery	216
	Personal Appearance	216
	Eye Contact	217	13	Informative Speaking
	Facial Expression	218		Types of Informative Speeches
	Posture	218		Speeches about Processes
	Gestures	219		Speeches about Events
	Proxemics	219		Speeches about Places and People
				Speeches about Objects
				Speeches about Concepts
	Rehearsing Your Speech	220
			Organizational Patterns
			for Informative Speeches	252
			Chronological Pattern	252
			Spatial Pattern	253
			Causal Pattern	254
			Topical Pattern	255
			Tips for Giving Effective
			Informative Speeches	255
			Bring Your Topic to Life	256
			Tailor Your Information to Your Audience	257
			Use Language That Is Clear and Unbiased	257
			Ethical Informative Speaking	259
			14	Invitational Speaking
				The Invitational
				Speaking Environment
			A Real-World Example
			of an Invitational Environment	264
12	Presentation Aids	222
	Why Visual Aids
	Are Important	223
	Visual Aids Help Gain
	and Maintain Audience Attention	223
	Visual Aids Help Audiences
	Recall Information	223
	Visual Aids Help Explain and
	Clarify Information	223
	Visual Aids May Increase Persuasiveness
	and Enhance Credibility	224
	Visual Aids May Reduce Nervousness	224
	Types of Visual Aids	224
	Objects, Models, and Demonstrations	225
	Handouts	227
	Whiteboards and SmartBoards	228
	Poster Boards and Flip Charts	228
	DVDs and Internet Images	229
	PowerPoint Presentations	230

The Condition of Equality	266	Connecting with Your Audience	299
The Condition of Value	266
The Condition of Self-Determination	266
Types of Invitational Speeches	268	Tips for Giving Effective Persuasive Speeches	299
Speeches to Explore an Issue	268	Be Realistic about Changing Your Audience's Views	299
Speeches to Articulate a Position	270	Use Evidence Fairly and Strategically	300
		Use Language That Encourages an Audience to Change	302
Organizational Patterns for Invitational Speeches	271	Ethical Persuasive Speaking	303
Chronological Pattern	272
Spatial Pattern	273
Topical Pattern	274
Multiple Perspectives Pattern	275
Tips for Giving Effective Invitational Speeches	278	Reasoning and Persuasion Evidence and Persuasion	308
Use Invitational Language	279		309
Allow Time for Discussion	279	Use Specific Evidence	309
Know Your Position	280	Present Novel Information	309
		Use Credible Sources	310
Ethical Invitational Speaking	280	Credibility and Persuasion	310
Stay True to Your Purpose	280	Types of Credibility	311
Share Your Perspective and Listen Fully to the Perspectives of Others	281	Enhancing Your Credibility	312
		Emotion and Persuasion	313
		Stay Audience Centered	315
		Use Vivid Language	316
		Balance Emotion and Reason	316
15 Persuasive Speaking	284	Mythos and Persuasion	317
Types of Persuasive Speeches	285	A Part of the Story Can Tell the Whole Story	317
Questions of Fact	285	Mythos Has a Logic	319
Questions of Value	285	Different Cultures Have Different Myths	319
Questions of Policy	286
Organization of Speeches on Questions of Fact	286	Fallacies	320
		Ad Hominem: Against the Person	320
Organization of Speeches on Questions of Value	288	Bandwagon: Everyone Else Agrees	320
		Either-Or: A False Dilemma	322
Organization of Speeches on Questions of Policy	290	False Cause (Post Hoc): Mistaking a Chronological Relationship	322
Problem-Solution Organization	290	Hasty Generalization: Too Few Examples	324
Problem-Cause-Solution Organization	292	Red Herring: Raising an Irrelevant Issue	324
Causal Organization	293	Slippery Slope: The Second Step Is Inevitable	325
Narrative Organization	294
Comparative Advantages Organization	296
Monroe's Motivated Sequence	297

Special Occasion Speaking 331

Speeches of Introduction 332

Be Brief	333
Be Accurate	333
Be Appropriate	333

Speeches of Commemoration	334
Share What Is Unique and Special	336
Express Sincere Appreciation	336
Tell the Truth	336

Speeches of Acceptance	336
Understand the Purpose of the Award	337
Recognize Others	337
Respect Time Limitations	338

Speeches to Entertain	338
Use Humor Carefully	342
Speak about Meaningful Issues	342
Pay Careful Attention to Your Delivery	342

Appendix: Small Group Speaking	345
What Are Small Groups?	346
Why Do People Speak in Small Groups?	347
Formats for Small Group Speaking	348
Question-and-Answers Sessions in Small Group Formats	353
Tips for Speaking Effectively and Ethically in Small Groups	356

Chapter Summaries 359

Glossary 391

Notes 397

Index 409

Bonus Custom Chapters

Impromptu Speaking

Civic Engagement

Service Learning