

Contents

Foreword	xi
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xxvii
List of Acronyms	xxix

Section 1: Ecosystem Science and Planning

Chapter 1. Introduction to Ecosystem Science and Planning	3
Background	3
Workshop Goal and Objectives	4
Organization	4
Opening Discussion	5
Ms Kitty M. Simonds	5
Opening Presentations	6
Steve Murawski	6
Carl Walters	11
Paul Dalzell	15
Gerard DiNardo	20
Chapter 2. Data Sources	23
Fishery-Dependent Data	23
Kurt Kawamoto	23
Russell Ito	27
Michael Quach	27
Resource and Habitat Data	31
Russell Brainard	32
Frank Parrish	33
Bud Antonelis	33
Oceanographic Data	35
Russell Moffitt	35
Reconstructing Time-Series Catch Data	38
Dirk Zeller	38
References	41
Chapter 3. Ecosystem Models and Modeling	43
Lessons from Other Regions	43
Neil Gribble	43
Jerald Ault	47
Carl Walters	50
Villy Christensen	51
Patrick Lehodey	53
Jeff Polovina	54
References	64

Call No. ....

วัน เดือน ปี .....

เลขทะเบียน B5706634 ..

Chapter 4. Ecosystem Indicators	65
David Kirby	65
Robert Wakeford	67
Mike Fogarty	68
David Witherell	70
References	77
Chapter 5. Working Groups	79
Prelude to Breakout Sessions	79
Data Needs Working Group Report	82
Ecosystem Models Working Group Report	86
Indicators Working Group Report	87
References	91
Chapter 6. Synthesis	93
Summary Synthesis: Mike Orbach	93
Summary Synthesis: David Fluharty	95
Conclusions and Recommendations	97
Reference	101
Section 2: Ecosystem Social Science and Planning
Chapter 7. Background on Ecosystem Social Science and Planning	105
Rationale and Questions for an EAFM in the Western Pacific	105
Purpose of the Social Science Workshop	107
Organization of the Chapter	107
Western Pacific Council Mission and Purview	107
Brief Overview of the Fisheries	108
A History of EAFM in the Pacific Islands	111
Pacific Islands and Ecosystems	112
The Antiquity of Ecosystem Concepts in the Region	113
The Ahupua'a and Other Forms of EAFM in the Pacific Islands	114
Formal Conceptual and Policy Background	118
References	125
Chapter 8. Introduction to Ecosystem Social Science and Planning	129
Workshop Goal and Objectives	129
Introductory Presentations	130
Kitty Simonds	130
Paul Dalzell	132
Steven Murawski	136
Samuel Pooley	137
Michael Orbach	139
Susan Hanna	142
Reference	144
Chapter 9. Ecosystem Social Science Models	145
Jeffrey Johnson	145
Richard Pollnac	148
Lee Anderson	150
Tim Hennessey	152

Chapter 10. Social Science Data Sources	155
Bryan P. Oles	155
Susan Abbott-Jamieson	156
Peter Wiley	158
Island Context and Social Science Data Challenges and Solutions	160
Paul Dalzell	160
Craig Severance	162
Paul Bartram	163
Fini Aitaoto	166
Judith R. Amesbury	168
Jesse Rosario	170
John Gourley	171
Chapter 11. Social and Economic Indicators and Applications for EAFM in the Pacific	173
Patrick Christie	173
Leah Bunce	176
Joeli Veitayaki	178
Leanne Fernandes	181
Leimana DaMate	182
Chapter 12. Synthesis: Toward Incorporating Social Science in EAFM	185
Drawing on Ancient Concepts and Practices	185
Existing Institutions and Institutional Parameters	186
Pursuing Ecosystem Goals and Objectives through Application of Social Science	188
Research and Monitoring of Direct Ecosystem Relationships	188
A Note on Social and Economic Indicators	191
Research and Monitoring of Indirect Ecosystem Relationships and Effects	192
Choices and Priorities	193
Elements of Social Science Approaches to EAFM in the Western Pacific Region	194
Addressing Variation with an Adaptive Approach	195
Steps for Incorporating Social Science in EAFM in the Region	196
References	198
Chapter 13. Summary Conclusions	199
Summary Points of Particular Relevance to Council FEP Objectives	199
Concluding Discussion	201
Section 3: The Ecosystem Policy Workshop
Chapter 14. Introduction to Ecosystem Policy	205
Background	205
An Ecosystem Approach for the Western Pacific	206
A Vast and Complex Region	206
Addressing Uncertainties with an Adaptive and Incremental Strategy	207

The Suitability of EAFM Policy in the Western Pacific	208
Prelude to the Ecosystem Policy Workshop	209
Organization of the Chapter	209
References	210
Chapter 15. Ecosystem Policy	211
Objectives and Issues	211
Overview of Findings	212
References	212
Chapter 16. Opening Presentations	213
Kitty Simonds	213
Samuel Pooley	213
Michael Orbach	214
David Fluharty	215
Paul Dalzell	216
David Kirby	219
Frank Parrish	220
Susan Hanna	222
Stewart Allen	223
Chapter 17. Policy for Indigenous Resource User Groups	227
David Kirby	228
John Gourley	228
Judith Amesbury	230
Fini Aitaoto	231
Leimana DaMate	232
Colin Kippen	234
Paul Dalzell	235
Chapter 18. Options for Community and Agency Interaction	241
Paul Dalzell	242
Jared Makaiiau	243
Reference	245
Chapter 19. Conclusions and Recommendations	247
Overview	247
Potential Benefits of the EAFM	248
Summary Recommendations for Maximizing the Benefits of the New Approach	249
Biophysical Workshop Recommendations Reiterated	249
Social Science Ecosystem Workshop Recommendations Reiterated	250
Policy Workshop Recommendations for Enhancing Participation	251
Policy Workshop Recommendations for Identifying Fiscal and Human Resources	252
Conclusions and Final Recommendations	253
References	256

Appendix A: Speaker Biographies	257
Appendix B: Select Demographic Tables	269
Index	273

Color Plates appear between pages 128 and 129