

John C. Daresh Trevor Arrowsmith

A Practical Guide for New School Leaders

Contents

The Authors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
1. Why Reading This Book Can Help You Further Your Successful Career	1
Plan for the Book	4
2. A Framework for Understanding the New Headship	5
Case Study: Working Out the Papers	5
Case Study: Am I Supposed to Go?	6
Case Study: I'm Not a Politician!	7
Balance Is the Key	12
Suggestions for Improvement and Professional Development	14
Building a Personal Plan	16
References	19
3. A Personal Leadership Checklist	20
Critical Leadership Skills	21
Your Personal Plan	30
References	31

4. Expectations for Technical Skills	32
Some Apparent Contradictions	33
Formal Requirements	34
Informal Tasks	34
Before the Term Begins	35
After the Term Begins	37
Towards the End of the Term	39
Building a Personal Plan	40
5. Leading as a Deputy	43
Remember Your Role	44
Using the Role for Your Future	45
Your Personal Plan	55
Suggested Reading	56
6. Others' Expectations	57
Critical Skills for New Headteachers: A Survey	58
Other Beginners	60
Experienced Heads	61
So What Does This Mean?	62
Your Personal Plan	64
References	65
7. Learning the Culture of Your School	67
Don't Just Look...See	70
Listen...Don't Just Hear	72
Celebrate the Past	74
Developing an Action Plan	75
8. Reviewing Personal Values	79
Case Study: Because It's Important to Me	79
Building a Platform	82
What Do You Do With the Platform?	86
Your Personal Plan	88
9. Being a Leader	89
Others' Perceptions	91

So What Do You Do?	93
Strategies to Reduce Isolation	94
Your Personal Plan	96
10. Building a Personal Timetable for Learning and Development	98
A Developmental Framework	99
What Does This Have to Do With Me?	103
Developing a Personal Timetable for Action	105
11. Building a Support System	108
Strategy 1: Finding a Mentor	110
Strategy 2: Developing Networks	113
Strategy 3: Staying in Touch with National Developments	114
Strategy 4: Maintaining Personal and Family Support	121
Developing a Plan of Action	122
Index	127