
Contents

Preface	xxi
The Audience	xxiii
Structure of This Book	xxiii
Additional Features	xxiii
Ancillary Materials	xxiv
Acknowledgments	xxv
References	xxvi
About the Author	xxvii
PART I. CONCEPTUAL AND HISTORICAL CONTEXT	I
Chapter 1. Introduction	3
Focus Your Reading	3
Qualitative Research Is Used in Many Disciplines	4
Quantitative or Qualitative?	6
How Are Qualitative and Quantitative Research Complementary?	7
What Is Qualitative Research?	8
Level of Specificity—General, Specific, or Somewhere in Between	8
Specific Discipline	10
A Working Definition	11
What Makes Research Qualitative?	12
Overview of Common Elements	12
Additional Components	13
The Growth of Qualitative Research	14
Why Qualitative Research?	16
Comparing Qualitative and Quantitative Research	16
Theoretical and Philosophical Foundations of Qualitative Research	18
What About Validity?	18
Check Yourself	21
Key Discussion Issues	22
Module 1a. Developing a Blog	22
Module 1b. Identifying Key Elements of Qualitative Research	22
Notes	23
References	23
Student Study Site	25

Chapter 2. Qualitative Research—A Reflexive Stance

27

Focus Your Reading	27
Purpose of Research and Research Questions	28
People	28
Concepts	29
Places	30
Events	30
Human Interactions, Social Processes, and Phenomena:
Identification of Research Questions	30
Role of Self—Reflexivity and Subjectivity	31
Reflexivity and Its Meanings	32
Current Practice of Reflexivity	33
Illustrations of Reflexive Practice	35
Subjectivity and Its Meanings	36
Thinking About Subjectivity	36
Illustrations of Subjectivity	36
Critical Elements of Qualitative Research	37
Purpose Is to Describe, Understand, and Interpret Human Behavior	38
Qualitative Research Is Dynamic	38
Studying Culture in New Ways	39
Dynamic Aspects of Interviewing	39
Fluid Environment	40
Plan May Be Modified	40
No Single Way of Doing Something	40
Reality Interpreted by the Researcher	41
Qualitative Research Is Inductive	41
Qualitative Research Deals With the Whole	42
Qualitative Research Occurs in Natural Settings	42
Role of the Researcher	43
In-Depth Study	44
Words, Themes, Narratives, and Writing	45
Nonlinear	46
Challenges of Doing Qualitative Research	47
Check Yourself	47
Key Discussion Issues	48
Module 2. Developing Research Questions and Being Reflexive	48
References	48
Student Study Site	51

Chapter 3. Ethical Issues in Qualitative Research

53

Focus Your Reading	53
Ethical Behavior: Definitions and Background	56

Major Principles Associated With Ethical Conduct	57
Do No Harm	57
Privacy and Anonymity	57
Confidentiality	59
Informed Consent	59
Truthfulness and Accuracy in Reporting Data	60
Rapport and Friendship	61
Intrusiveness	61
Inappropriate Behavior	62
Data Interpretation	62
Data Ownership and Rewards	62
Inclusion and Social Justice	62
Other Issues	63
Misconduct in the General Scientific Community	64
Misconduct in the Qualitative Research Arena	65
Concerns for the Qualitative Researcher	66
Studying Vulnerable Participants	69
Children	69
Persons With Limited English or Other Challenges	70
Setting and Maintaining Standards	71
Problems With Review Boards	74
Check Yourself	76
Key Discussion Issues	76
Module 3. Examining the Principles of Ethical Conduct	76
References	77
Student Study Site	80

Chapter 4. Conceptualizing Research Approaches

81

Focus Your Reading	81
Thinking About Qualitative Research	81
History of Qualitative Research Approaches	85
Generic Versus Specific Approaches	88
Problems With Research Approaches	90
Paradigm Wars	90
Mixed-Methods Approaches	91
Combined Qualitative Approaches	92
Meta-synthesis	92
Check Yourself	93
Key Discussion Issues	94
Module 4. Developing a Personal Viewpoint Regarding
How to Conduct Research	94
References	94
Student Study Site	96

Chapter 5. A Detailed Examination of Common Approaches 97

Focus Your Reading	97
Qualitative Research Approaches Revisited	97
What Should a Research Approach Be Able to Do?	100
Ethnography—A Study of Cultures or Subcultures	100
History and Meaning	100
Distinguishing Features	101
Special Issues	102
Culture	102
Gaining Access	102
Participant Observation	103
Total Immersion	103
Power	103
Examples From the Field	103
Blogs and Beyond	104
Words of Caution	104
Grounded Theory—Developing Theory From Context	105
History and Meaning	105
Distinguishing Features	106
Special Issues	107
Deciding on Participants	108
Theoretical Saturation	108
Coding	108
Examples From the Field	108
Blogs and Beyond	109
Words of Caution	109
Theoretical Sampling	110
Determining True Grounded Theory	111
Theoretical Saturation	111
Theories	111
Following the Coding Rubric	111
Phenomenology—The Study of Lived Experiences	111
History and Meaning	112
Phenomenology in Today's World	112
A Variety of Disciplines	113
Growth Worldwide	113
Reinterpretations of Phenomenology	114
Phenomenology as a Philosophy and as a Method	114
Distinguishing Features	116
Special Issues	116
Translating Philosophical Ideas Into a Research Approach	116
Uncommon Terms	116
Specifics Missing	117
Complex Ideas	117
Examples From the Field	117

Blogs and Beyond	118
Words of Caution	118
Phenomenology in Name Only	118
Seems So Easy	118
Case Study—An Examination of a Particular Person, Program, Event, or Concept	118
History and Meaning	119
Distinguishing Features	120
Special Issues	120
Selecting Cases	120
What Makes a Case Study	122
Defining Limits	122
Going Beyond a Particular Case	122
Examples From the Field	122
Blogs and Beyond	123
Words of Caution	123
Utility of Case Studies	123
Is Case Study a Research Approach?	123
Narrative Inquiry—Focus on Telling a Story	124
History and Meaning	124
Distinguishing Features	125
Special Issues	125
Gathering Sufficient Information	125
Who Owns the Stories?	126
Retelling the Stories	126
Examples From the Field	126
Blogs and Beyond	127
Words of Caution	127
More Than a Story	127
Understanding the Context	127
How to Get Information	127
Fact or Fiction	127
Ethics, Anonymity, and Ownership	128
Summary of Research Approaches	128
Check Yourself	129
Key Discussion Issues	129
Module 5. Identifying Questions, Selecting an Approach, Planning and Implementing, and Connecting	130
References	130
Student Study Site	134

Chapter 6. A Review of Additional Research Approaches 135

Focus Your Reading	135
Interrelatedness of Research Approaches, Research Topics, and Participants	136

Action Research/Participatory Action Research—Solving a Particular Problem	138
History and Meaning	138
Distinguishing Features	139
Special Issues	139
Getting the Buy-In	139
Maintaining Academic Integrity	139
Changes over Time	139
Examples From the Field	140
Arts-Based Approaches	140
History and Meaning	140
Distinguishing Features	141
Special Issues	141
Attaining Legitimacy in a Scientifically Oriented World	141
Seeking Alternative Presentation Forms	141
Examples From the Field	142
Autoethnography—Exploring the Experiences of Life	142
History and Meaning	142
Distinguishing Features	143
Special Issues	143
Little Has Been Written About How to Conduct an Autoethnography	143
Reflexivity Plays an Important Role	143
Personal Story or Something More	143
Examples From the Field	144
Feminist Research	145
History and Meaning	145
Distinguishing Features	146
Special Issues	146
Definition of a Feminist Study	146
No Universal Definition of Feminist Research	147
Poststructural and Postfeminist Viewpoints	147
Examples From the Field	147
Mixed-Methods Research	149
History and Meaning	149
Distinguishing Features	149
Special Issues	150
Inconsistencies in Terms of Worldviews	150
Triangulation	150
Examples From the Field	150
Postmodernism and Critical Theory Research	151
A Summary of Research Approaches	152
Selecting a Research Approach	152
Select a Research Topic and Question	154
Select a Research Approach	154

Develop a Research Study	154
Determine Your Role as a Researcher	155
Check Yourself	155
Key Discussion Issues	155
Module 6. Read About Mixed-Methods Research or Arts-Based Methods	155
References	156
Student Study Site	159

PART II. THE QUALITATIVE RESEARCH PROCESS 161

Chapter 7. Planning and Conceptualizing a Qualitative Research Study 163

Focus Your Reading	163
Innovations From the Field	164
Traversing the Lonely Road by James Bernauer	164
Transparent Technology by R. A. Dibbs, David Glassmeyer, and Maria Lahman	168
Photovoice in Practice by Laura Lorenz	173
Life in the Social Sciences—An Alternate View by Christine Brooks	179
Turning Research Into Film by Kip Jones, With Trevor Hearing	184
Jumping Outside Your Comfort Zone—Painting	101 189
Developing a Qualitative Research Proposal	191
Purpose	191
Research Question and Conceptual Framework	192
Start My Review	193
Review Qualitative Research Elements	193
Select a Qualitative Research Approach	194
Explain Elements of Approach	194
Trustworthiness	195
Researcher Role	196
Practicalities	196
Qualitative Research Proposal Outline	196
Institutional Requirements	197
Qualitative Research Proposal Elements	197
Final Considerations in Writing a Proposal	200
Check Yourself	201
Key Discussion Issues	201
Module 7. Developing a Mini-IRB Protocol	201
References	202
References for Individual Contributions	202
Student Study Site	204

Chapter 8. Social Media, the Internet, and Technology

205

Focus Your Reading	205
What Are Social Media and Social Networking?	206
Definitions	207
Popular Social Networking Sites	207
Advances in Technology	208
Definitions	208
Internet Tools	209
Browsers	209
Application Software (App)	209
Cloud Computing	210
Visual Tools	210
Location Tools	210
Tools for Rapid Communication	211
Organizing and Analyzing Information on the Web	212
Types of Hardware	213
Definitions	213
Popular Devices	213
Research Related to the Internet	214
Privacy, Ethics, and Informed Consent	215
Ways to Use Tools	216
Virtual Learning	216
Research on Hardware and Tools	217
Summary	218
Check Yourself	218
Key Discussion Issues	219
Module 8a. Interact in a Virtual Community	219
Module 8b. Combine Visual and Textual Information	219
References	219
Student Study Site	221

Chapter 9. A Review of Research Literature

223

Focus Your Reading	223
Introduction	224
The Question of Why	226
Value of a Review	226
Potential Limitations of a Review	227
When Should You Conduct a Review?	227
What Are You to Do?	228
The Process of How	228
Conducting a Review of Related Research—Critical Steps	228
Identify a Topic of Interest	229
Determine Search Terms	229
Search for Information	229

Select Relevant Information	231
Review Critically	231
Modify Topic If Necessary	231
Keep Track of Things	231
Avoid Hard Copies and Printing Things	231
What Do You Write?	232
Completeness and Accuracy in References	232
Software Programs for References	232
Using Proper Form for Unusual References	232
What Do Others Say?	232
Incorporating Review in Your Work—Critical Steps	234
Using the Information	234
Decide on a Type of Review	234
Contextual	234
Historical	235
Theoretical/Conceptual	235
Methodological	235
Integrative	235
Decide on a Style of Review	235
Organize the Review	236
Locate Your Own Research	236
Relate Your Research to Existing Research	236
What Do Others Do?	236
Check Yourself	237
Key Discussion Issues	237
Module 9. Conducting a Mini-Literature Review and Writing It Up	238
References	238
Student Study Site	240

Chapter 10. Interviewing

241

Focus Your Reading	241
Introduction	241
Purpose of Interviewing	246
Types of Individual Interviews	247
The Structured or Standardized Interview	248
The Semi-Structured or Guided Interview	248
The Unstructured or In-Depth Interview	248
The Casual or Unplanned Interview	250
General Issues in Individual Interviewing	250
Identification of Participants	250
How Many?	251
Developing Rapport	252
Selecting a Setting for the Interview	252
Observing Surroundings	253

Recording the Interview	253
Transcribing the Interview	253
Interviewing Adolescents and Children	254
Interviewing Males With Limited Verbal Skills	254
Interviewing Elites	254
Power	255
Reflexivity—Researcher as Instrument	255
Interviewer and Participant Gender	256
Emotions and Interviewing	256
Alternatives to Direct Questioning	256
Quality of the Interview	257
Collecting Data Using Internet Technologies	258
Interviewing Online	258
Preparing for an Online Interview	258
Issues and Challenges With Online Interviewing	259
Other Technologies	260
Knowing About Issues	260
The Interview Process for In-Depth Interviewing	261
Advance Planning	261
Preliminaries	262
The Body of the Interview	262
The End of the Interview	263
Post-Interview Tasks	263
Developing Interview Techniques	263
Types of Questions	263
Grand Tour	264
Concrete Questions	265
Comparison/Contrast	266
New Elements/Topics	266
Closing	267
Strategies for Questioning	267
Elaboration	268
Probing	268
Using Stimuli	269
Neutrality	269
Single Question	269
Wait Time	270
Special Areas of Concern	270
Questioning Strategies to Avoid	270
Leading Questions	270
Complex Questions	271
Double-Barreled Questions	271
Questions With Jargon or Technical Language	271
Chattiness	271

Developing an Interview Guide	271
Example of an Interview	272
Summary	274
Check Yourself	275
Key Discussion Issues	275
Module 10. Group and Individual Activities	275
References	276
Student Study Site	278

Chapter 11. Additional Methods of Gathering Data

279

Focus Your Reading	279
Observing in Natural Settings	281
Purpose of Observations	282
Issues Regarding Observations	284
Deciding Who Is to Be Studied and in What Situations	284
Types of Groups	284
Gaining Access	285
What to Study	285
Frequency and Length of Time	286
Your Role	286
How to Conduct an Observation	286
Planning	286
Conducting the Observations	287
Other Issues	287
Four Scenarios for Practice	288
Scenario 1	288
Scenario 2	289
Scenario 3	290
Scenario 4	291
Focus Group Interviews	292
Purpose of Focus Group Interviewing	294
Issues Regarding Focus Groups	294
Deciding on the Size of the Group	294
Deciding on the Number of Groups	295
Deciding the Composition of Groups	296
Focus Groups with Challenging Populations	296
Deciding the Role of the Moderator	297
Locating Facilities and Arranging for Recording	297
Transcribing	297
Online Focus Groups	297
Example of a Focus Group Interview	299
Images and Visuals	301
Purpose of Images	302
Issues Regarding Images/Video	302

Privacy and Facial Recognition Software	302
Quality of the Image	303
Manipulation of the Image	303
Relationship of the Image to Words	303
Selecting Framing for Recordings	303
Examples of Image Usage	303
Mapping	304
The Written Word	305
Issues Regarding Written Material	306
Extracting the Essence	306
Technology	307
Smartphones	307
GPS Technology	308
Skype	308
Google Products	308
Issues Regarding the Use of Technology	308
Technical Limitations	309
Recruiting Participants	309
Participant Behaviors	309
Programming Apps	309
Managing and Analyzing Data	309
Institutional Review Board Approvals With Human Subjects	309
Challenges for Researchers	309
Examples of Technology Use	309
Check Yourself	310
Key Discussion Issues	310
Module 11. Use of Apps for Gathering Data	311
References	311
Student Study Site	314

PART III. THE FINAL PRODUCT 315

Chapter 12. Drawing Meaning From the Data 317

Focus Your Reading	317
When to Do Your Analysis	323
Gaining Meaning: Themes/Concepts or Narratives	323
Looking at Themes/Concepts	323
Looking at Narratives	324
Moving Ahead	325
Conducting an Analysis for Themes/Concepts	326
Getting Started	326
Preparing and Organizing Your Data	327
Reviewing and Recording Your Thoughts	328

Looking for Concepts/Themes—The Three Cs: Coding, Categorizing, and Concepts	328
Six Steps in Coding	329
Strengthening the Process	331
Looking for Narratives or Stories	332
Qualitative Research Approaches and Data Analysis	335
Additional Qualitative Analysis Techniques or Procedures	336
Generic Approach	336
Constant-Comparative Method	336
Content (Textual) Analysis	337
Conversation Analysis	337
Discourse Analysis	337
Interpretative Phenomenological Analysis	338
Qualitative Comparative Analysis	338
Issues in Analysis	338
What About Transcribing?	338
How to Know When You Are Finished	339
Philosophical Stance	340
Data Analysis With Computer Software	340
Other Issues	343
Summary	344
Check Yourself	344
Key Discussion Issues	345
Module 12a. From Coding to Concepts	345
Module 12b. Narrative Analysis	345
References	346
Student Study Site	348

Chapter 13. Communicating Your Ideas

349

Focus Your Reading	349
First Steps	351
Guidelines for Writing and Presenting Qualitative Research	352
Your Audience: What Does It Expect?	352
What Are You Trying to Say?	353
Against the Simplified and Mechanical	353
The First Person	354
General Guidelines for Writing	354
The Voices of Others	354
Writing With Others	355
The Use of Metaphors	356
Creative Nonfiction	358
Fiction	361
Structure—A Good Thing	362
Opening Section	362

Methods and Procedures	362
Profiles of Participants	363
Concepts and Supporting Evidence	363
Self-Reflection	363
Research Literature	364
Alternative Presentation Formats	364
Social Sciences and the Arts	364
Ethnographic and Autoethnographic Narratives	364
Photography	365
Ethnodrama	365
Poetry	365
Magazine	366
Subjective Maps and Children's Drawings	366
Performance Film	366
Alternative Writing Presentations	366
Student's Examples of Qualitative Writing	367
Disseminating Your Ideas and Learning From Others	369
Selected Journals	370
Online Open Access Journals—General and Specific	370
Online Subscription Journals—General and Specific	371
Other Avenues of Distribution	371
Publishers	372
Summary	372
Check Yourself	372
Key Discussion Issues	373
Module 13a. Simple Writing Task	373
Module 13b. Reinforcing Writing Ideas	374
References	374
Student Study Site	376

Chapter 14. Judging the Research Process and Product

377

Focus Your Reading	377
Personal Criteria	381
Researcher's Role: Revealing the Self-and-Other Connection	381
Convincing Arguments	382
What Was Studied	382
What Was Found	383
Rich in Detail: How the Study Was Done	384
Communication: How Convincing Is the Presentation?	384
What Others Have to Say	385
Criteria for Reviewing Traditional Quantitative Research Approaches	385
A Brief History	386
Prior to 1990	386

The 1990s	386
The Early 2000s	388
Current Thinking	391
Summary	394
Check Yourself	394
Key Discussion Issues	394
Module 14a. Compare Lincoln and Guba's Four Criteria	394
Module 14b. Learn How to Add Your Voice	395
References	395
Student Study Site	396

Epilogue: Social Science and the Future of Qualitative Research	397
The Digital Age	398
Globalization, Political Activism, and Social Justice in Troubled Times	398
Communicating—The Written Word and Beyond	399
Change and Resistance	400
References	400
Glossary	403
Index	409