

Contents

	Acknowledgments	vii
	Introduction Daniel A. Bell	I
Part I:	A Confucian Constitutional Order
1.	The Way of the Humane Authority: The Theoretical Basis for Confucian Constitutionalism and a Tricameral Parliament Jiang Qing	27
2.	The Supervisory System of Confucian Constitutionalism: Reflections on the Supervision of the State by the Academy Jiang Qing	44
3.	A Confucian Constitutionalist State: The Constitutional Role and Contemporary Significance of Republicanism under a Symbolic Monarch Jiang Qing	71
Part II:	Comments
4.	On the Legitimacy of Confucian Constitutionalism Joseph Chan	99
5.	An Old Mandate for a New State: On Jiang Qing's Political Confucianism Bai Tongdong	113
6.	Transcendent Heaven? A Critique of Jiang Qing's Grounding of the Right to Rule Chenyang Li	129
7.	Is the Way of the Humane Authority a Good Thing? An Assessment of Confucian Constitutionalism Wang Shaoguang	139

Part III: Response to the Commentators

8.	Debating with My Critics	161
	Jiang Qing
	Notes	209
	Bibliography	241
	Contributors	249
	Index	251