

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction	xvii
PART I: TWENTY-FIRST-CENTURY MANAGEMENT IN LIBRARIES	1
1 Classic Management vs. New Management	3
2 Preparing and Maintaining the New Manager	18
3 “Managing” New Employees/Staff/Human Resources/Stakeholders	34
4 New Management of Change	49
5 New Managers Designing New Organizations	58
6 Management Infrastructure Documents in New Organizations	68
7 Managing New Services and Resources	85
8 Managing Those Outside the “Sphere”	97
9 New Management “in Action” Communication	103
10 New Managers within Classic and New Organizations	114
11 New Managers in Classic and New Facilities and Environments	124
12 New “Landscapes” for Library and Information Settings	142

13	Managing the Balance to Meet New Constituent/ Customer Expectations	155
14	Accountability, Measurement, and Assessment in New Management Organizations	168
15	New Budgeting with (Mostly) Classic Budgeting Issues	193
16	Emergency Management Roles and Responsibilities of New Managers	206
PART II: THE CASES		225
Introduction to the Case Method		227
Case 1	A Difficult Path of Moving Up and Out	239
Case 2	Building Your Own Management Training Program	248
Case 3	Rumor Has It	253
Case 4	Do You Have Any Change on You?	259
Case 5	Racking Up the Library Pool Table	265
Case 6	Manuals, Handbooks, Policies, Procedures, Budgets, Minutes, and Plans, Oh My!	271
Case 7	What's Old Is New—If the Money Is There	276
Case 8	But Enough about Me—What Do You Think about Me?	281
Case 9	Suffering from Past Mistakes	286
Case 10	What You Don't Know Can Hurt You	291
Case 11	A Fixer Upper	298
Case 12	Penny's Partners Proliferate due to Punctual, Prioritized, and Positive Planning	303
Case 13	Keeping Up with the "Joneses"	313
Case 14	Torture the Data	319
Case 15	Matching Data to Data Requests	324
Case 16	Building Tomorrow's Future on Today's Expertise	330

PART III: APPENDIXES	335
Appendix A. Annotated Master List of “Indispensable” Resources	337
Appendix B. Examples of Paradigms	344
Appendix C. Additional Paradigm Shifts	345
Index	351
About the Author	361