

Contents

Introduction: Reappraising Media Sociology Silvio Waisbord	1
Part I Media, Institutions, and Politics
1 Strategy Follows Structure: A Media Sociology Manifesto Rodney Benson	25
2 Linking Media Sociology to Political Development in Trans- Legislative Democracies Michael Schudson	46
3 Back to the Future? The Sociology of News and Journalism from Black and White to the Digital Age Howard Tumber	63
Part II Media Industries and Audiences
4 Agency, Social Interaction, and Audience Studies Richard Butsch	81
5 Media Industry Sociology: Mainstream, Critical, and Cultural Perspectives Timothy Havens	98
6 The Political Economy of Media Work and Watching Toby Miller	114
Part III Media Representations
7 When Media Representation Met Sociology Shani Orgad	133

Contents

8	Too Little But Not Too Late: Sociological Contributions to Feminist Media Studies	151
	Laura Grindstaff and Andrea Press
9	Media Sociology and the Study of Race	168
	Ronald N. Jacobs
Part IV Digital Technologies, Self, and Society
10	Digital Media Technology and the Spirit of the New Capitalism: What Future for "Aesthetic Critique"?	191
	Graeme Kirkpatrick
11	Mobile Communication and Mediated Interpersonal Communication	212
	Rich Ling
12	Sociology and the Socially Mediated Self	224
	Jeff Pooley
	References	248
	Index	293