

Contents

|   |          |
|---|----------|
| Acknowledgments   | xiii     |
| Introduction  | 1        |
| PART I   | 5 |
| 1 Digestion Basics   | 7        |
| Digestive System Facts  | 7        |
| What is considered a “normal” poop?   | 11       |
| How do I get my intestines working?   | 12       |
| How long should it take to poop after I eat?  | 15       |
| How long should I wait between meals?   | 15       |
| 2 The Mouth  | 17       |
| Mouth Facts   | 17       |
| Why is it so important to chew my foodbefore swallowing?  | 19       |
| I recently heard someone mention “oil pulling.”What is that, and why would someone do it?             | 21       |
| How does the condition of my mouth and teethaffect my intestinal health?                              | 22       |
| Tell me more about these bad bacteria, viruses,fungi, and parasites. What kinds could I get?          | 23       |
| What are the chances that I have or will get some ofthese bad bacteria, viruses, fungi, or parasites? | 25       |

|  |    |
|--|----|
| What is a “DNA stool test,” and what is it most commonly used for?   | 25 |
| How does a DNA stool test work?  | 26 |
| What kind of medical or health practitioner can check me for bacteria, parasites, and fungal infections?                                     | 26 |
| Can a DNA stool test be used to identify whether someone has bacteria, parasites, or fungus and, if so, which one(s)?                        | 27 |
| OK. So a DNA stool test could help. What other tests are available, how do I get them, and how effective might they be?               | 27 |
| I want to learn more about parasitic infections. Where can I find more information?  | 29 |
| How can I reduce my chances of contracting these bad bacteria, viruses, fungi, or parasites?   | 30 |
| How do I avoid eating contaminated food?   | 31 |
| I don’t want to ruin my business trip or vacation with “traveler’s diarrhea”! How can I protect myself, particularly while traveling abroad? | 32 |
| What should I do if I get “traveler’s diarrhea”?   | 34 |
| How can I ensure that I will poop consistently when I travel?  | 35 |
| 3 The Esophagus   | 37 |
| Esophagus Facts  | 37 |
| What is acid reflux, or “GERD,” and what can I do to prevent it?   | 39 |
| I have been diagnosed with Candidiasis. . . . What is that?  | 41 |
| What caused my Candida yeast overgrowth?   | 43 |
| How do I reduce my Candida levels?   | 43 |
| I feel fine, but want to keep my Candida levels in check. What do you recommend?   | 47 |
| Will digestive enzymes help me?  | 49 |
| 4 The Stomach   | 53 |
| Stomach Facts  | 53 |
| I feel sick to my stomach—is it the stomach flu or food poisoning?   | 55 |

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Am I at risk of getting gastroenteritis?  | 55        |
| What causes bacterial gastroenteritis (“food poisoning”)?   | 56        |
| What causes viral gastroenteritis (“stomach flu”)?  | 56        |
| Other than bacteria and viruses, are there any other causes of gastroenteritis?   | 57        |
| How long does it take to get and recover from gastroenteritis?  | 59        |
| It sounds like dehydration is a major concern with gastroenteritis. How will I know whether I am becoming dehydrated? What should I do to avoid it or rehydrate myself? | 59        |
| What should I do if I get gastroenteritis?  | 60        |
| So when should I call a doctor?   | 60        |
| What are some steps I can take to help prevent getting gastroenteritis?   | 61        |
| I ate something at a social function and now my tummy is upset. What should I do?   | 62        |
| Why do I see food in my poop?   | 63        |
| What is the relationship between fat and pooping?   | 64        |
| Why do green drinks and healthy foods taste so bad to me?   | 66        |
| What can I do to remedy the bad taste in my mouth?  | 67        |
| 5 The Small Intestines: The Duodenum   | 69 |
| Duodenum Facts  | 69        |
| What can I do to alleviate abdominal pain accompanied by fatigue?   | 71        |
| I have diarrhea. What should I do?  | 72        |
| Sometimes I go days without pooping. Should I be concerned? And if so, what specifically should I do?   | 73        |
| What is leaky gut and how can it affect me?   | 73        |
| 6 The Liver  | 77 |
| Liver Facts   | 77        |
| Do the liver and gallbladder clean themselves?  | 79        |
| So is the old saying, “An apple a day keeps the doctor away” true?  | 80        |
| I have acne. Why does acne occur, and how do I treat it?  | 81        |

|           |  |            |
|-----------|--|------------|
|           | Why does my skin clear up when I eat better or cleanse?                                  | 84         |
|           | Tell me more about food allergies. How do they develop,and what are common symptoms? | 85         |
| 7  | The Gallbladder   | 87  |
|           | Gallbladder Facts  | 87         |
|           | How do gallstones develop?   | 89         |
|           | What can I do to reduce the possibility that I willdevelop gallstones?               | 89         |
|           | What happens if I develop gallstones?  | 90         |
|           | Why is cholesterol important?  | 91         |
|           | What can I do to reduce my cholesterol?  | 91         |
| 8  | The Pancreas  | 93  |
|           | Pancreas Facts   | 93         |
|           | I have pancreatitis. What can I do to help myself?                                       | 95         |
|           | How do I care for my pancreas?   | 96         |
| 9  | The Small Intestines: Jejunum and Ileum   | 97  |
|           | Jejunum and Ileum Facts  | 97         |
|           | It feels as if food is stuck and I see a bulge in mytummy area. What should I do?    | 99         |
|           | How might I know if I have a hernia?   | 100        |
|           | How might I prevent getting a hernia?  | 101        |
|           | I have been diagnosed with Crohn's disease. What is this?                                | 101        |
|           | If I have Crohn's disease, what can I do to help myself?                                 | 102        |
| 10 | The Large Intestines  | 105 |
|           | Large Intestines Facts   | 105        |
|           | I have gas. What causes it, and how do I eliminate it?                                   | 108        |
|           | What exactly is constipation, and what causes it?  | 110        |
|           | What remedies might I use to prevent constipation?                                       | 111        |
|           | I sit a lot during the day. What can I do to supporthealthy bowel movements?         | 114        |
|           | I have acute constipation. What can I do to get mybowels moving again?               | 117        |
|           | What would you do, Mardell, if you were constipated?                                     | 118        |
|           | My child is frequently constipated. What can I do?                                       | 119        |
|           | I have diverticulitis. What should I do?   | 120        |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| How do I reduce fecal incontinence?   | 121 |
| What are hemorrhoids, and what can I do about them?   | 122 |
| What is the correct way to sit while I am pooping?  | 123 |
| I am a visual person. Do you have any pictures to help me understand what can go wrong in the large intestines?   | 124 |
| PART II: NUTRITION   | 129 |
| What causes or increases the likelihood of dehydration?   | 130 |
| How will I know whether I am dehydrated or becoming dehydrated?   | 131 |
| Water is water is water, right?   | 132 |
| In addition to using sources of water that are least likely to contain contaminants, what else can I do to avoid exposing myself and my family to risky water sources that may contain amoeba, protozoa, and/or sewage? | 134 |
| What are probiotics, and why should I take them?  | 135 |
| Are there different types of probiotics? Which should I take and how?   | 136 |
| What foods, beverages, and additives are bad for me?  | 137 |
| What is the difference between sea salt and table salt?   | 138 |
| I can't afford "health food." What are my options?  | 139 |
| What is a cleansing drink that I can order in a restaurant?   | 140 |
| My digestion is out of whack from having a medical procedure and taking antibiotics. I want to cleanse and rebuild my intestinal tract. How should I eat to best support this process?                                  | 141 |
| What can I combine with my greens to make them tastier and more filling?  | 143 |
| I've been hearing a lot about "super foods." What are they?   | 145 |
| What do you eat, Mardell?   | 147 |
| But do you ever "cheat"? If so, what do you do to get back on track?  | 147 |
| Mardell's "Six & One" Self-Feedback Strategy  | 148 |
| How can I practice portion control?   | 148 |
| Intestinal Health Checklist   | 149 |
| Seven-Day Sample Menu   | 153 |
| Recipes   | 155 |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| PART III: CLEANSING  | 165 |
| What is an intestinal cleansing program, and why should I incorporate this into my overall health and wellness routine?   | 166 |
| What are some ways to cleanse or detoxify my body?  | 167 |
| Is there a difference between cleansing and fasting?  | 171 |
| I poop every day. Why would I need to cleanse?  | 171 |
| Why not just use a laxative to clean my bowels?   | 172 |
| Are enemas effective for cleansing and detoxification?  | 175 |
| I've heard about coffee enemas. Why would I do one of those?  | 176 |
| Can I do a coffee enema myself? If so, how?   | 176 |
| I am concerned that I may have parasites, fungi, or imbalanced bacteria. What are my options? Would cleansing help reduce or eliminate any of these situations? | 178 |
| OK, I get it. Cleansing may be good for me! How often should I cleanse?   | 180 |
| Cleansing is difficult to do! What do you recommend?  | 182 |
| How does a liver/gallbladder flush work, and why would I do one?  | 183 |
| What if I want to cleanse my intestines but not do a liver/gallbladder flush?   | 185 |
| Grapefruit is cleansing, right?   | 186 |
| Why are colonics so important for my overall health and especially when I'm cleansing?  | 186 |
| What is the difference between a closed, pressure-feed colonic system and an open, gravity-feed colonic system?   | 187 |
| Which colon hydrotherapy method is best for me?   | 189 |
| What is a colema board?   | 190 |
| My friend got cancer. Will colonics keep me from getting cancer?  | 191 |
| What is cancer, and how does it happen?   | 192 |
| What causes normal cells to become abnormal and out of control?   | 193 |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| What are the symptoms I might experience ifI have cancer?  | 194 |
| What can I do to avoid getting cancer?   | 195 |
| What are my options to treat my cancer if I get it?  | 198 |
| Do I need to add nutritional support with cleansing?   | 200 |
| What do you do when you want to cleanse orlose weight, Mardell?  | 201 |
| How do you eat after a colonic, Mardell?   | 202 |
| Why do I feel sick and bloated or get cramps whenI drink alcohol after a colonic, intestinal cleanse,or liver flush? | 203 |
| Yikes! Something disgusting and smelly came outof me while cleansing—what is it?   | 203 |
| Closing  | 205 |
| Notes  | 209 |
| Bibliography   | 217 |
| Index  | 225 |
| About the Author   | 237 |