
Contents

Preface	xv
1 Characteristics of the medium	1
Radio makes pictures	1
Radio speaks to millions	2
Radio speaks to the individual	3
Radio is private and personal	3
The speed of radio	4
Radio has no boundaries	4
The transient nature of radio	5
Radio on demand	6
Radio as background	6
Radio is selective	7
Radio lacks space	7
The personality of radio	8
The simplicity of radio	8
Radio is low cost	9
Radio for the disadvantaged	10
Radio teaches	11
Radio has music	12
Radio can surprise	12
Radio can suffer from interference	13
Radio for the individual	13
Radio for society	14
The public servant	15
Personal motivations	17
2 Structure and regulation	19
The national regulator	20
The local board	22

Station finance	23
Station structure	24
Community radio	25
Station life	26
Getting a job	26
3 The radio studio	28
Studio layout	29
The studio desk, mixer, control panel, console, or board	30
Digital mixers	34
Studio software	35
Digital compression	38
Digital development	39
Music playout	40
Recording formats	41
Digital audio workstation	42
Editing principles	44
Editing practice	45
Microphones	45
Stereo	48
Equipment faults	50
4 Using the Internet and social media	51
An online presence	51
Internet radio	52
Radio podcasts	54
Internet research	55
Making the best use of social media	56
Personal Twitter accounts	58
Blogs	59
A case study	60
5 Ethics	63
Declarations of intent	64
Objectivity, impartiality, and fairness	65
Limitation of harm	67
Watchdog	68
Whistleblowers	68
Bad practice	68
The status of the media	70

6	Writing for the ear	72
	Who are you talking to?	72
	What do you want to say?	73
	The storage of talk	73
	Words	74
	Structure and signposting	75
	Pictures and stories	76
	Double meanings	76
	The script	77
7	News – policy and practice	79
	‘Interesting’	79
	Codes of Practice	81
	Objectivity	82
	Legality	84
	News values	86
	Investigative reporting	89
	Campaigning journalism	90
	The news reporting function	91
	Accuracy, realism, and truth	92
	Intelligibility in the writing	93
	Being fair	95
	Giving offence	96
	Causing distress	97
	Civil disturbance and war reporting	97
	The newsroom operation	99
	Smartphone	103
	Style book	103
	Radio car	104
	Equipment in the field	106
	The news conference and press release	108
	A summary	109
8	Interviewing	110
	The basic approach	110
	Types of interview	111
	Securing the interviewee	113
	What the interviewee should know	113
	Preparation before the interview	114
	The pre-interview discussion	115
	Question technique	116

Question ‘width’	118
Devil’s advocate	119
Multiple questions	119
Leading questions	120
Non-questions	121
Non-answers	121
Non-verbal communication	122
During the interview	123
Winding up	124
After the interview	124
Style	125
Interviewing ‘cold’	126
Interviewing through a translator	126
Location interviews	127
The triangle of trust	132
9 Vox pop	133
Phrasing the question	134
Interviewing children	136
Choosing the site	136
The recorder	137
Putting the question	138
The editing	139
10 Cues and links	142
Information for the broadcaster	142
Information for the listener	144
Links	147
11 Newsreading and presentation	148
The seven Ps	149
Newsreading	150
Pronunciation	151
Vocal stressing	152
Inflection	153
Quotation marks	153
Alterations	154
Corrections	154
Lists and numbers	154
Station style	155
Continuity presentation	156
Errors and emergencies	157

Headphones	158
Trails and promos	159
12 The discussion	161
Format	161
Selection of participants	162
The chairperson	164
Preparation	164
Advice to contributors	165
Contributor nerves	166
Starting the programme	166
Speaker control	166
Subject control	167
Technical control	168
Ending the programme	170
13 Phone-ins	171
Technical facilities	172
Programme classification	172
The open line	172
Support staff	173
Choosing the calls	174
The role of the host	176
Host style	176
Reference material	177
Studio operation	177
Additional telephone facilities	178
Use of 'delay'	179
The specific subject	179
'Early lines'	181
Consumer affairs	182
The need to be fair	182
Linking programmes together	183
Personal counselling	183
The presenter as listener	184
Non-broadcasting effort	185
Anonymity	185
Phone-in checklist	186
14 Listener participation	187
Letters, phone calls, emails, texts and tweets	187
Programme follow-up	189

Texting	190
Helpline	190
Visitors	191
Special involvement	192
Travelling roadshow	192
Major events	192
15 Music programming	194
Attitudes to music	195
Metadata	196
Likes and dislikes	196
Clock format	197
Computerised selection	199
Requests and dedications	200
Choosing music	200
Item order	201
Prefading to time	202
Preparing listeners' material	202
Programme technique	203
Guest programmes	204
DJ shows	205
16 Sequences and magazines	210
Programme title	211
Signature tune	212
Transmission time	212
The presenter	212
Linking style	213
Information content	214
Programme construction	214
Programme variety	216
Programme ideas	216
Voice piece	217
Interview	217
Discussion	218
Music	218
Sound effects	219
Listener participation	219
Features	220
Drama	221
Item order	221
Production method	225
Responding to emergency	227

17 Making commercials	228
Copy policy	229
The target audience	230
The product or service 'premise'	231
Writing copy	232
Voicing and treatment	235
Music and effects	238
Stereo	241
Humour in advertising	242
Testing	244
18 Outside broadcasts (remotes)	245
Planning	245
Visiting the site	246
Communications to base	246
People	249
Hazard assessment	249
Equipment	249
Safety	250
Accommodation	251
Programme research	252
Liaison with the base studio	253
Publicity	253
Conflicts of approach	254
Tidiness	254
Gratuities	255
The big disaster	255
19 Commentary	258
Attitude to the listener	258
Preparation	259
Working with the base studio	261
Sport	262
Communicating mood	262
Coordinating the images	263
Content and style	263
News action	265
Sports action	266
Actuality and silence	267
The ending	267

An example	268
Coping with disaster	269
20 Music ‘live’	271
Reproduction of internal balance	272
Creation of a synthetic balance	277
Studio layout	277
Microphones for music	279
Frequency control	282
Dynamic control	283
Echo	284
Channel delay	285
Mixing technique	286
Recording technique	288
Production points	291
21 Drama – principles	293
Adapting for radio	295
The idea	296
Story construction	296
The setting	298
Characterisation	299
Dialogue	300
Drama from personal story	302
Truth vs. drama	305
Script layout	306
The actors	307
The acoustic	309
Sound effects	311
Music	315
Production technique	316
22 Documentary and feature programmes	319
The documentary	320
Planning	320
Research	323
Structure	324
Collecting the material	324
Impression and truth	325
Music	326

Compilation	326
Programme sequence	328
The ending	328
Contributors	329
Programmes in real time	329
The feature	330
23 The work of the producer	332
Ideas	332
The audience	333
Resource planning	334
Preparation of material	334
The studio session	336
Taste	338
Ending the session	339
Post-production	340
Programme administration	340
Technician, editor, administrator, and manager	341
24 The executive producer	343
Station management	344
Staff development	345
Scheduling	346
Rescheduling	348
Strategic planning	349
Commissioning programmes	350
Codes of Practice	351
Complaints	354
Website	355
Archival policy	357
25 Programme evaluation	359
Production evaluation	359
Programme quality	360
Audience evaluation	362
Personal meters	364
Research panels	365
Questionnaires	366
Written programme response	368
Web analytics	369
Cost evaluation	369

26 Training	371
Triggers for training	372
Learning objectives	373
Course organisation	375
Stretching imagination	376
Editorial selection	376
News priorities	376
News exercise	377
Voicework	377
Personal motivation	378
Vox pop	378
Commentary	379
Drama	379
Exercises and questions for media students	379
New challenges for old producers	380
Maintaining output	380
Assessing quality	381
Training evaluation	381
27 Back-announcement	383
Websites	385
Glossary	388
Further reading	402
Index	406