

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements		xi
1	Introduction	1
	Broadcasting in Transition	3
	A Multifaceted Approach to Digital Broadcasting	6
	Outline of the Book	9
2	A Historical Approach to Digital Broadcasting	11
	The Installation of Broadcasting Media	12
	Broadcasting and Changing Conceptions of the Home	14
	Models of Broadcasting Systems	18
	Broadcasting Policies in the Age of Scarcity	20
	Broadcasting Policies in the Age of Availability	21
	Broadcasting Policies in the Age of Plenty	23
3	The Broadcasting Industry	29
	Changes in Competition	30
	From Value Chains to Value Networks	32
	Business Models	33
	Digital Broadcasting Industry from a Value Network Perspective	34
	Content Creation and Production: Content and Application Developers	35
	Content Aggregation and Packaging	39
	Content Distribution	39
	Digitization of Television Distribution	40
	Digitization of Radio Distribution	42
	Content Service Provision	45

	Network-based Audiovisual Services	45
	Audiovisual Services via the Web	46
	Portable Audiovisual Services	48
	Content Service and Technology Consumption	48
4	Production in the Digital Era	51
	The Field of Media Production	53
	Professionalism and Amateurism	55
	Fan- and Amateur-based Production	57
	The Industry Fights Back	59
	Something Old?	60
	Something New?	62
	Broadcasting and Interactivity	66
5	Channels in the Digital Broadcasting Era	71
	From Broadcasting to Ecocasting	72
	From Channel Scarcity to Channel Abundance	73
	Survival of the Fittest: Branding	76
	From Grazing to Browsing	80
	Public and Community	84
6	Audiences in the Digital Broadcasting Era	89
	Audience Approaches	90
	Understanding New TV Audiences: Tools, Affordances and Practices	91
	Affordances and Practices of Entertainment	94
	Affordances and Practices of News	96
	Affordances and Practices of Everyday Life Organization	98
	Affordances and Practices of Sociality	99
7	Rethinking Digital Broadcasting and New Media	105
	Liquidization	106
	Defamiliarization	107
	Storytelling	108
	De- and Recentralization	109
	Democratization and Participation	111
	Conclusion	112

Annotated Guide to Further Reading	115
Exercises and Questions	123
Bibliography	129
Index	151