Contents

	Acknowledgements
1	1.0 1.1 1.2 1.3	tion The Aim of the Book Defining Key Terms The Importance of Written CF for L2 Development The Structure and Focus of Chapters 2–6	1 1 1 3 5
2	The Cog 2.0 2.1	nitive Perspective on Written CF for L2 Development Introduction The Relationship Between the Central Goal of L2 Learning and Two Types of Linguistic Competence and Knowledge	10 10
	2.2	Skill Acquisition Theories and the Conversion of Explicit Knowledge to Implicit Knowledge Two Types of Input: Positive Evidence and	13
	2.4 2.5	Negative Evidence (Including Written CF) Stages in the Cognitive Processing of Input/CF for the Development of Explicit and Implicit Knowledge Beyond the Single Written CF Episode –	16 18
	2.6	Knowledge Consolidation The Potentially Mediating Influence of Individual and Contextual Factors on Cognitive Processing Summary	252533
3	3.0 3.1	ely Informed Research on Written CF for L2 Development Introduction Can Written CF Facilitate L2 Development?	34 34 36
	3.2	Are Some Types of Written CF More Facilitative of L2 Development than Others?	44

vi Contents

	3.3	Is Written CF More Effective in Targeting Certain Linguistic Error Domains/Categories?	52
	3.4	The Relative Effectiveness of Focused and Unfocused Written CF	57
	3.5	The Moderating Effect of Individual and Contextual Factors	60
	3.6	Concluding Remarks	64
4	The Sociocultural Perspective on Written CF for L2 Development
	4.0	Introduction	67
	4.1	Sociocultural Theory of Mind (SCT): An Overview	68
	4.2	Key Constructs in SCT	70
	4.3	Summary and Conclusions	86
5	Socioculturally Informed Research on Written CF for L2 Development		87
	5.0	Introduction	87
	5.1	Feedback as a Form of Scaffolding within the ZPD	88
	5.2	Mediation and Use of Tools in the Provision and Processing of Written CF	97
	5.3	Activity Theory: Feedback as an Activity	108
	5.4	Concluding Remarks	118
6	Conclusi	on	120
	6.0	Introduction	120
	6.1	A Summary of Theoretical Perspectives and Empirical Findings on Written CF	121
	6.2	Future Directions	128
	6.3	Final Reflections	135
References
			137
Index			149