CONTENTS

List of Figures xvii
List of Tables xix
About the Authors xxi
Companion Website xxii
Acknowledgements xxiii
Praise for the Third Edition xxv

PART ONE SETTING THE SCENE: THE CHANGING LANDSCAPE OF BUSINESS ORGANIZATIONS 1

1 INTRODUCTION 3

Interweaving processes of organizational change, creativity and innovation 4
The importance of change, creativity and innovation in a world of flux and transition 9
Case 1.1 The place of high-tech and low-tech at TNT 11
Rationale and structure of the book 17
Conclusion 19
Resources, readings and reflections 20
Chapter review questions 20
Hands-on exercise 20
Group discussion 20
Recommended reading 21
Some useful websites 21
References 22

2 THE PROCESS OF CHANGE, CREATIVITY AND INNOVATION 25

Introduction 26
Organizational change 26
Defining organizational change: the key dimensions 27
Factors that promote change: the external and internal environment 29
Gradual and rapid change: an explanatory model 34

Case 2.1 Sharp market change in commodity prices take companies to the edge: from oil capital of Europe to a small mining town in Australia 36
Creativity 38
Myths surrounding creativity: towards a definition 39
Theories and models of creativity 41
Creative thinking 44
Reflective exercise: creative accidents and creative dreams? 46
Innovation 48
Forms and levels of innovation 49
Theories and models of innovation 53
The management of innovation 53
Closed and open innovation 54
The human side to innovation: building and sustaining relational networks 57
A process model of continuous innovation 58
Disruptive innovation: breaking away from established patterns 60
Conclusion 63
Resources, readings and reflections 65
Chapter review questions 65
Hands-on exercise 65
Group discussion 65
Recommended reading 66
Some useful websites 66
References 67

3 A BRIEF HISTORY OF MANAGEMENT THOUGHT IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF CONCEPTS, THEORIES AND BUSINESS PRACTICE 74

Introduction 75
The Industrial Revolution 77
Industrial organization and the coordination and control of work 78
Change and the human aspects of work 81
Sleepers wake: the spectre of technology and innovation 82
Fit for purpose: the rise of contingency theory 84
In search of excellence: recipes for success 87
Guru literature, popularized ideas and the re-invention of management 91
New ideas for prospective futures: the global digital economy, advanced technology, precarious employment and declining household incomes 96
Conclusion 104
Resources, readings and reflections 107
A reflective and prospective exercise 107
Chapter review questions 107
Hands-on exercise 108

Group discussion 109
Recommended reading 109
Some useful websites 109
References 110

PART TWO CHANGE AND INNOVATION IN ORGANIZATIONS 117

4 CLASSIFYING THEORIES OF ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGE 119

Introduction 120
The paradox of continuity and change 121
Classifying theories of change: the conceptual terrain 123
Theoretical frame for understanding organizational change theories 126
A historical frame for explaining organizational change theories 129
Metaphors of organizations and images of managing change 130
A summary of theories and approaches to organizational change 134
Conclusion 146
Case 4.1 Mybank: a case study of organizational change 147
Resources, readings and reflections 152
Chapter review questions 152
Hands-on exercise 152
Group discussion 153
Recommended reading 153
Some useful websites 153
References 153

5 CHANGE MANAGEMENT PRACTICE: CHOICES, LESSONS LEARNED AND KEY CONSIDERATIONS 163

Introduction 164
Reasons for change: context, drivers and choices 165
Case 5.1 The role of government in driving change: electricity in New Zealand and the politics of privatization 167
Environmental determinism and strategic choice 170
Scale and type of organizational change 171
The practice of managing change: guidelines, lessons and perspectives 174
Reflective exercise: how leaders spark and sustain change 181
The practice of managing innovation and change: success and failure 183
Is change and innovation the solution to business success? 186
Conclusion 190
Case 5.2 The Alpha Pro pump: a case study of competitive innovation 192
Resources, readings and reflections 196

Chapter review questions 196
Hands-on exercise 197
Group discussion 197
Recommended reading 197
Some useful websites 198
References 198

6 HUMAN DIMENSIONS: READINESS, TIME PERSPECTIVES, COMMUNICATION, POWER, POLITICS AND RESISTANCE 202

Introduction 203
Readiness and time perspectives for change 204
Communication and change 212
Communication skills and competencies for change 214
Communication: process and strategies 215
Communication for gaining commitment and not compliance to change 218
Case 6.1 A question of communication? A change project in a local government agency in New Zealand 221
Communication as conversations in making sense of change 224
Power and politics in the management of change 226
Power and change 226
Politics and change 228
Resistance and change 229
Individual responses to change 230
Group responses to change 231
Collective forms of resistance to change: the Foxconn concern 234
Resistance as authentic grievance for positive change 236
Conclusion 237
Case 6.2 Resistance to threatened identities: unexpected reactions to orthodox change 238
Resources, readings and reflections 243
Chapter review questions 243
Hands-on exercise 244
Workshop discussion 244
Recommended reading 245
Some useful websites 245
References 246

7 CONVENTIONAL FRAMEWORKS: PLANNING, DIAGNOSTICS AND SEQUENCE 252

Introduction 253
Laying the foundations for planned approaches: Kurt Lewin 255
Organizational Development (OD) and diagnostic change management 261
A matrix model of OD interventions 263
Dunphy and Stace's situational approach to change management 265

Case 7.1 The British Rail case study: learning from the past? 269
John Kotter: leading and managing successful change 272
Case 7.2 Change at General Motors–Holden 278
Conclusion 286
Resources, readings and reflections 288
Chapter review questions 288
Research and reading exercise 288
Group discussion 288
Recommended reading 289
Some useful websites 289
References 290

8 NEW DEVELOPMENTS AND POSTMODERN IDEAS: DIALOGUE AND MEANING 293

Introduction 294
Dialogical OD and the movement away from diagnostic foundations 295
Peter Senge: continual transformation and the learning organization 299
The change kaleidoscope framework 303
Jabri's participative dialogical approach to managing change 307
Case 8.1 Change and the transitioning of people with intellectual disabilities into aged care facilities 313
Appreciative Inquiry (AI): searching for the best in people 316
Conclusion 320
Resources, readings and reflections 323
Chapter review questions 323
Research and reading exercise 324
Group discussion 324
Recommended reading 324
Some useful websites 325
References 325

9 THE PROCESSUAL TURN: POLITICS, CONTEXT AND TIME 329

Introduction 330
Laying the foundations: processual–contextual perspectives 332
Temporality and the dominance of objective time in theorizing change 338
Storying processes of change: narrative and dialogue 341
The storyist turn: change as a multi-story process 342
Buchanan and Badham's political entrepreneurial approach to managing change 345
Dawson's processual approach for understanding change 350
A reappraisal of time for processual understanding 351
Factors shaping the process of change 355
Studying change over time: from present to future state 357
Criticisms of Dawson's processual approach 361
Conclusion 362

Case 9.1 The hegemonic power of management and the sacking of the night shift: power-coercive strategies or Machiavellian management? 364
Resources, readings and reflections 366
Chapter review questions 366
Hands-on exercise 367
Group discussion 367
Recommended reading 367
Some useful websites 368
References 368

PART THREE CREATIVITY, INNOVATION AND CHANGE IN ORGANIZATIONS 375

10 CREATIVE INDUSTRIES, INNOVATIVE CITIES AND CHANGING WORLDS 377

Introduction 378
A creative epoch: entrepreneurship, innovation and ambidexterity 379
Case 10.1 Entrepreneurial flare and the success of Amazon 383
Case 10.2 Creative creativity: incremental and radical innovations in Apple Inc. 385
Creative industries: strategy, wealth creation and growth 386
The age of creativity: organizations, people and location 400
The industrial and creative divide in the experience economy 400
Creative cities, class and regions: Bohemians, tech-geeks and baristas 402
Case 10.3 Elephant and flea: on becoming an entrepreneurial nomad 408
Conclusion 414
Resources, readings and reflections 415
Chapter review questions 415
Chapter quiz 416
Hands-on exercise 417
Group discussion 417
Recommended reading 418
Some useful websites 418
References 419

11 THE INDIVIDUAL: PROMOTING CRITICAL THINKING 426

Introduction 427
Cognitive factors 428
Implications for creativity, innovation and change management 431
Personality traits 432
Implications for creativity, innovation and change management 434
Case 11.1 An appetite for creativity 435
Knowledge 438

Formal or explicit knowledge 439
Informal or tacit knowledge 440
Knowledge for creativity? 441
Is knowledge always conducive to processes of change, creativity and innovation? 442
Implications for creativity, innovation and change management 443
Motivation 444
Types of motivation 445
Implications for creativity, innovation and change management 447
Individual readiness for organizational change 447
Conclusion 448
Case 11.2 The driven designer who constructed a global empire 449
Resources, readings and reflections 452
Chapter review questions 452
Hands-on exercise 452
Group discussion 452
Recommended reading 453
Some useful websites 453
References 453

12 THE GROUP: NURTURING TEAMWORK 458

Introduction 459
Teams, groups and the creative process 460
Why do people join teams? 460
How do teams develop over time? 461
Why do teams fail? 462
Psychological phenomena that can cause teams to fail 463
Blind conformity 463
Groupthink 464
Social loafing 465
Team-building interventions during change 466
Creative teams: what do we know? 468
Team inputs 469
Team size 469
Team longevity 470
Task 471
Knowledge, skills and abilities (KSAs) 471
Resourcing the team 472
Team composition 472
Team processes 473
Action processes 473
Brainstorming 474
In-class exercise 481
Creativity enhancement techniques 481
In-class exercise 486

Interpersonal processes 486
Trust 486
Conflict 487
Team cohesiveness 487
Moderators of team performance 488
Task type 488
Team leadership 488
Team outcomes 490
Case 12.1 From teamwork to collaboration 490
Case 12.2 Diversity fails to end boardroom 'groupthink' 493
Conclusion 495
Resources, readings and reflections 496
Chapter review questions 496
Hands-on exercise 496
Group discussion 497
Recommended reading 497
Some useful websites 497
References 498

13 THE LEADER: PROMOTING NEW IDEAS AT WORK 503

Introduction 503
Defining leadership 504
How are managers different from leaders? 505
Ingredients of leadership 505
Historical overview of key leadership theories 506
Trait approaches to leadership 506
Behavioural theories 507
The University of Iowa studies 508
The Ohio State studies 508
The University of Michigan studies 509
The managerial grid 509
Contingency theories 510
The Fiedler model 510
Hersey's situational theory 513
Leader participation model 514
Path–goal theory 516
Contemporary approaches to leadership 517
Transformational and transactional leadership 517
Charismatic and visionary leadership 518
Leading creativity and innovation 519
Qualities and approaches of leadership for change 523
Leading an ambidextrous organization: exploitative and explorative innovation 524
Case 13.1 Transformation and change at Leeds Rhinos: the power of one 526

Challenges 528
Conclusion 529
Case 13.2 Disney's mild-mannered prince crowned king, Robert Iger's style is very different from his predecessor 530
Resources, readings and reflections 532
Chapter review questions 532
Hands-on exercise 532
Group discussion 532
Recommended reading 533
Some useful websites 533
References 533

14 THE INTERNAL ENVIRONMENT: ORCHESTRATING STRUCTURE, SYSTEMS AND RESOURCES 538

Introduction 539
The balanced scorecard: value creation and performance management 539
What is organizational structure? 541
Work specialization 541
Departmentalization 542
Chain of command 542
Span of control 543
Centralization and decentralization 544
Formalization 545
Situational factors 546
Corporate strategy 546
Organizational size 547
Environmental uncertainty 547
Structural forms 547
Traditional structures 547
Contemporary organizational structures 549
Organizing for change, creativity and innovation 551
Systems 552
Goal-setting and reward systems 552
Evaluation 554
Resources 555
Sufficient resourcing 556
Systems of communication 559
Project selection 561
Conclusion 563
Case 14.1 The creative process at an advertising agency in Australia 563
Resources, readings and reflections 568
Chapter review questions 568
Hands-on exercise 568

Group discussion 569
Recommended reading 569
Some useful websites 569
References 569

15 CULTURE: ENABLING AND CONSTRAINING CREATIVE PROCESSES AT WORK 577

Introduction 578
The evolution of the concept 579
So what is organizational culture? 580
Different perspectives on organizational culture 581
Case 15.1 Cultures at work: the case of Home Care Service 583
Why is culture an important influence on organizational creativity and innovation? 587
Norms that promote creativity and innovation 588
Norms that promote implementation 590
Practical principles for sustaining and building creativity and change 593
Can strong, cohesive cultures hinder innovation and change? 596
The management of cultural change in organizations 598
Conclusion 603
Case 15.2 Leadership, culture and change: the case of Jerusalem Paints Industry 604
Resources, readings and reflections 607
Chapter review questions 607
Hands-on exercise 608
Group discussion 608
Recommended reading 608
Some useful websites 609
References 609

16 CONCLUSION 615

Introduction 615
Creative employees and the creative process 618
Lessons for managing change, creativity and innovation 619
Conclusion 621
References 622

Index 624