

Discourse Analysis

Barbara Johnstone

 Blackwell Publishing

Contents

List of Figures	x
Preface	xi
1 Introduction	1
1.1 What is Discourse Analysis?	1
1.2 Some Uses of Discourse Analysis	5
1.3 Facets of Discourse Analysis	7
1.4 Discourse and Text: The Data of Discourse Analysis	19
1.5 Transcription: Representing Speech in Writing	20
1.6 “Descriptive” and “Critical” Goals	25
1.7 Summary	27
2 Discourse and World	29
2.1 Linguistic Categories, Minds, and Worldviews	32
2.2 Discourse, Culture, and Ideology	39
2.3 Language Ideology	55

2.4	Silence	58
2.5	Summary	61
3	Discourse Structure: Parts and Sequences	63
3.1	Words and Lines	67
3.2	Turns and Moves in Conversation	72
3.3	Paragraphs and Episodes	75
3.4	Discourse Schemata and the Structure of Narrative	81
3.5	The Emergent Organization of Conversation	90
3.6	Old and New Information and the Organization of Sentences	97
3.7	Cohesion	101
3.8	Structures and Rules	107
4	Speakers, Hearers, Audiences	111
4.1	Power, Solidarity, and Community	112
4.2	Social Roles and Discourse Roles	119
4.3	Audience, Politeness, and Accommodation	124
4.4	Attributed Identities and Situated Identifications	129
4.5	Agency and Self-Expression	132
4.6	Summary	134
5	Prior Texts, Prior Discourses	137
5.1	The Idea of Intertextuality	139
5.2	Repetition in Conversation	143
5.3	Register: Repeated Styles for Repeated Situations	147
5.4	Genre: Recurrent Forms, Recurrent Actions	155
5.5	Plot and Coherence	161
5.6	Summary	165
6	Discourse and Medium	168
6.1	Early Work on "Orality and Literacy"	170
6.2	Literacy and Literacies	174
6.3	Communication and Technology	180
6.4	Planning and Discourse Structure	182
6.5	Fixity, Fluidity, and Coherence	188

6.6	Medium and Interpersonal Relations	190
6.7	Summary	193
7	Discourse and Purpose	196
7.1	Speech Acts	197
7.2	Contextualization Cues and Discourse Marking	203
7.3	Rhetorical Aims, Strategies, and Styles	210
7.4	Verbal Art and Performance	220
7.5	Performances of Identity	223
7.6	Summary	225
8	Some General Themes	227
8.1	A Heuristic Approach to Discourse Analysis	227
8.2	Locations of Meaning	230
8.3	Discourse as Strategy, Discourse as Adaptation	232
8.4	Language and Linguaging	234
8.5	Particularity, Theory, and Method	236
8.6	From Text Outward	237
	Glossary	239
	References	243
	Index	263