

Transitions

Writing in Academic and Workplace Settings

Edited by
Patrick Dias
Anthony Paré

Contents

Series Preface	vii
Introduction	1
1. Writing Classrooms as Activity Systems Patrick Dias	11
2. Write Where You Are: Situating Learning to Write in University and Workplace Settings Aviva Freedman and Christine Adam	31
3. Diplomats in the Basement: Graduate Engineering Students and Intercultural Communication Ann Beer	61
4. Writing and Design in Architectural Education Peter Medway	89
5. Bridging the Gap: University-Based Writing that is More than Simulation Aviva Freedman and Christine Adam	129
6. Writing as a Way into Social Work: Genre Sets, Genre Systems, and Distributed Cognition Anthony Paré	145

7. What Do We Learn From the Reader? Factors in Determining Successful Transitions Between Academic and Workplace Writing Christine Adam	167
8. Revising a Research Article: Dialogic Negotiation Natasha Artemeva	183
9. Organizational Cultures as Contexts for Learning to Write Jane Ledwell-Brown	199
10. Reinventing Expertise: Experienced Writers in the Workplace Encounter a New Genre Graham Smart	223
Author Index	253
Subject Index	257