

PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE SERIES

CURRICULUM CONNECTIONS

THROUGH THE LIBRARY

EDITED BY

Barbara K. Stripling

Sandra Hughes-Hassell

Contents

Illustrations	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction	xvii
Barbara K. Stripling and Sandra Hughes-Hassell
I. Building Independent Learners	1
1. Inquiry-Based Learning	3
Barbara K. Stripling
How Is Inquiry Different from Information Problem Solving?	4
What Is the Process of Inquiry?	6
How Does Inquiry Relate to Literacy?	7
What Impact Does Inquiry-Based Instruction Have on Curriculum Development?	18
What Does Discipline-Based Inquiry Look Like, and What Resources Are Required?	21
Science	21
Math	23
Social Studies	24
Language Arts and Literature	27

How Is an Environment of Inquiry Created and Sustained?	29
Learner-Centered	29
Knowledge-Centered	30
Assessment-Centered	31
Community-Centered	32
What Roles Does the Librarian Play in Building Communities of Inquiry?	33
Catalyst	33
Connector	34
Coach	35
Caregiver	36
Why Are Communities of Inquiry So Important?	36
2. Empowered Learning: Fostering Thinking Across the Curriculum	41
Violet H. Harada
What Is Worth Learning or Knowing?	43
Implications for Practice: How Do We Enhance This Learning?	44
How Do Students Demonstrate This Learning?	50
Implications for Practice: How Do We Facilitate This Learning?	50
How Do We Create Environments That Cultivate Thoughtful Learning?	54
Implications for Practice: How Do Teachers and Library Media Specialists Work Together in Building These Environments?	56
Conclusion	62
3. Literacy Learning in the Elementary School: Implications for School Library Media Specialists	67
Donna M. Shannon
Introduction	67
Best Practice in Teaching Children to Read and to Write	69
Children Need Time to Do a Lot of Reading	69
Children Need Access to a Variety of Books	69
Children Need Adult Supporters	70
Children Need Authentic Literacy Experiences	71

The Role of the School Library Media Specialist as Literacy Leader	72
Creating and Sustaining the Reading Environment	72
Fostering Children's Reading	74
Collaborating with Classroom Teachers to Support Reading and Writing	80
Working with Parents and Families	81
The School Library Media Specialist as Knowledgeable and Reflective Practitioner	83
Conclusion	85
 4. Promoting Young Adult Literacy: A Role for School Library Media Specialists	89
Sandra Hughes-Hassell
What Do We Know About Young Adults and Reading?	90
Young Adults Do Read	90
Young Adults View Reading as a Social Activity	91
Stephen King One Day, Edgar Allan Poe the Next	91
Gender Plays a Role in Reading Preference	92
For Many Young Adults, Books Can Be Best Friends	92
Young Adults Who Choose Not to Read Have Different Reasons for Opting Out	93
Many Young Adults Experience Difficulty Reading Academic Texts	93
What Do We Know About Young Adults and Writing?	93
Young Adults Need Audiences for Their Writing	94
Young Adults Like Publishing Their Writing to the Internet	94
Young Adults Write for a Variety of Purposes	95
Few Young Adults Understand the Power of Writing	95
Implications for School Library Media Specialists	95
Create a Library Space That Draws Teens	95
Advocate for Free Reading Time During the School Day	96
Extend the Reading Community	96
Invite Teenagers to Read	97
Provide Young Adults with Strategies for Understanding Academic Texts	98

Invite Young Adults to Write	100
Some Final Thoughts	101
II. Mapping the Curriculum	105
5. Librarian Morphs into Curriculum Developer	107
Charlotte C. Vlasis
Introduction	107
The Morphing Begins	108
So . . . What Is Curriculum Mapping?	108
What Information Is Found on a Curriculum Map?	109
What About Standards?	109
What Information Is Not on the Map?	109
Do All Curriculum Maps Look the Same?	111
How Does Curriculum Mapping Benefit the School Community?	111
Benefits for Teachers	111
Benefits for New Teachers	112
Benefits for Librarians	112
Benefits for Students and Parents	113
Using Curriculum Maps to Help Write Curricular Units	113
How Do You Create a Curriculum Map?	114
How Long Does Mapping the Curriculum Take?	115
How Do You Begin?	115
How Do You Convince Your School to Do Curriculum Mapping?	116
Conclusion: Keys to Success	116
6. Curriculum Mapping and Collection Mapping: Otherwise Known as "The Camel with Two Humps"	119
Jo Ann Everett
Hump Number One: Curriculum Mapping	119
Wow!	119
Enough!	120
O.K.	120
Don't Panic!	121
Eureka!	121

Slow Down!	121
Oops!	122
How Did You Get So Smart?	122
Persevere	123
Hump Number Two: Collection Mapping	123
Put On the Bifocals	124
Whoa!	124
Hocus, Pocus!	124
Get Ready, Set, Go!	125
Eureka, Again!	125
Don't Go Overboard!	126
Spin That Web	126
Be Alert	127
Sold to the Highest Bidder!	127
Peace at Last	127
Here We Go Again!	128
Hang On—Here We Go!	128
Thinking Outside of the Box!	128
At Last! A Finished Map	129
Fitting the Pieces Together	131
Hand in Hand	131
Divide and Conquer!	136
Peace in the Valley—At Last!	136
III. Teaching and Assessing	139
7. Modeling Recursion in Research Process Instruction	141
Sandy L. Guild
Introduction	141
The Role of Self-Talk in the Research Process	142
Modeling the Thinking Processes Involved in the Research Process	143
Back to Sarah	147
Application to Instruction	147
Habits of Mind	150

8. Assessment for Learning	157
Sharon Coatney
What Is Assessment?	157
Types of Assessments	158
Constructing Assessments	159
Planning	160
Alternative Assessments	161
The Teacher Librarian, Assessment, and the School Curriculum	163
Finding	163
Analyzing, Evaluating, and Using	164
Presenting	166
Conclusions	167
 IV. Creating Collaborative Learning Communities	 169
9. Building Learning Communities Using Technology	171
Frances Jacobson Harris
Introduction	171
Learning Communities	172
Using Technology to Build Learning Communities	173
Information Ecologies	174
System	174
Diversity	175
Coevolution	175
Locality	176
Keystone Species	176
Technology Tools for a Healthy Information Ecology	177
Information Technology	177
Communication Technology	178
Dissemination Technology	179
Selected Applications in Practice	179
Challenges	181
Lack of Diversity I: The Internet as a Monoculture	181
Lack of Diversity II: Technical Support and Staff Development	182
Lack of Coevolution: New Technology, Old Pedagogy	183

Locality: Choosing the Right Tool for the Setting	183
Preserving Librarians as Keystone Species	184
Conclusion	184
10. The Role of Libraries in Learning Communities	189
Rebecca J. Pasco
Introduction	189
Learning Communities	190
Learning Communities and Library Media Specialists	192
Leadership in Learning Communities: Administrators and Library Media Specialists	194
Conclusion	196
11. Collaboration and Leadership	199
Joy McGregor
Introduction	199
The Experience of Collaboration	199
Collaboration and the School Library	200
Why Is Collaboration Difficult?	201
Leadership and Change	202
Collaborative Learning Communities	202
Complexity of the Change Process	203
Urgency, Energy, and Agency for Change	205
Framework for School Improvement	205
Factors to Consider in Leading Collaborative Efforts	207
The Principal's Mental Model	207
The Teacher Librarian's Knowledge of the Curriculum	208
Teachers' Prior Knowledge and Experience	209
Ability to See the Big Picture	210
Belief in the Ability to Lead	210
Leadership Skills, Qualities, and Attitudes	211
Principles and Strategies for Leading Successful Collaborations	212
Create/Take Advantage of Opportunities	212
Acknowledge Agendas	213
Discuss Expectations	213
Determine Goals and Objectives	214
Set Priorities	214

Create Teams	214
Keep Team Focused on Mission	215
Evaluate	216
Document Evidence	216
Reward Positive Results	217
Lead Professional Growth	217
Share Leadership	217
Maturing Leadership	217
Index	221
About the Editors and Contributors	227