INTERNATIONAL EDITION

Effective Training

Systems, Strategies, and Practices

Second Edition

P. Nick Blanchard · James W. Thacker

Contents

Preface xv

CHAPTER 1 Overview of Training in Organizations 1

Overview of Training 4

Opportunities and Challenges in the New Millennium 4

Important Concepts and Meanings 6

The Role of Training in Organizations 11

Training, Budgets, and Management Responsibilities 12

Strategy, Training, and Organizational Development 14

Structure of Training Organizations 15

Training as Part of the HR Function 15

The Training Organization 16

Training in Large and Small Businesses 18

A Training Process Model 19

Open Systems 19

Training as an Open System 21

Training: A Process 21

Training as Continuous Improvement 25

CHAPTER 2 Strategic Planning, Training, and OD 28

Overview 31

Strategic Planning Process 33

Organizational Mission 34

Strategy 34

Strategic Contingencies 35

Proactive and Reactive Strategy 38

Matching Internal to External Strategy 39

HR and HRD Influences on Competitive Strategy 40

What About Small Business? 46

HRD's Role in Supporting Strategy 48

Developing an HRD Strategy 49

The Training Environment and Amount of Centralization 52

Some Strategic Training Alternatives 53

OD, Strategy, and Training 56
OD and Strategy 57
Levels of Internal Change and Resistance 60
Training and OD 62
Case Analysis 67

CHAPTER 3 Learning Motivation and Performance 71
A Few Words About Theory 74
Understanding Motivation and Performance 75
Motivation: Why Do They Act Like That? 76
Self-Efficacy and Motivation 84
Understanding Learning 85
What Is Learning? 85
Two Integrative Theories of Learning 88
Gagné's Learning Types 88
Social Learning Theory 97
Relating Instruction to Learning 100
Why Are They Resisting and What Can I Do About It? 103
Motivation to Learn 103
Group Dynamics 105
Training That Motivates Adults to Learn 106
Training Relevance, Value, and Readiness to Learn 106
Allowing Trainees Control over Their Learning 106
Involving Trainees in the Process 107
Individual Differences Related to Learning 107
Case Analysis 110

CHAPTER 4 Needs Analysis 114
Why Conduct a Training Needs Analysis? 115
When to Conduct a Training Needs Analysis 117
Where to Look for Performance Discrepancies 119
The Framework for Conducting a TNA 121
Organizational Analysis 122
Operational Analysis 126
Person Analysis 141
Gathering TNA Data: Final Thoughts 148
Outcomes of TNA 149
Nontraining Needs 149
Training Needs 152
Approaches to TNA 152
Proactive TNA 152
Reactive TNA 155
Reactive Versus Proactive 158

The Small Business 158
Assistance for Small Businesses 160
TNA and Design 161
Case Analyses 170
Appendix 4.1 174

CHAPTER 5 Training Design 179

Organizational Constraints 181
Organizational/Environmental Constraints 181
Developing Objectives 187
Identifying Objectives 188
Writing a Good Learning Objective 189
Why Use Training Objectives 192
The Trainee 193
The Training Designer 193
The Trainer 193
Training Evaluator 193
Facilitation of Learning: Focus on the Trainee 194
KSAs (Individual Differences) 194
Motivation of Trainee 196
Facilitation of Learning: Focus on Training Design 201
Social Learning Theory 201
Strategic Knowledge 204
Facilitation of Transfer: Focus on Training 205
Conditions of Practice 206
Maximize Similarity 208
Vary the Situation 208
Other Considerations to Facilitate Transfer 209
Facilitation of Transfer: Focus on Organizational Intervention 212
Supervisor Support 213
Peer Support 213
Trainer Support 213
Reward Systems 214
Climate and Culture 214
Design Theory 216
Elaboration Theory 216
Gagné-Briggs Theory 218
The Small Business 221
Outcomes of Design 223
Case Analyses 230

CHAPTER 6 Training Methods 232

Overview of the Chapter 234
Matching Methods with Outcomes 234

Lectures and Demonstrations 235
Straight Lecture/Lecturette 235
Discussion Method 236
Demonstrations 236
Strengths and Limitations of Lectures and Demonstration 237
Computer-Based Training 243
Programmed Instruction 243
Intelligent Tutoring Systems 246
Interactive Multimedia 247
Virtual Reality 248
Strengths and Limitations of CBT 249
Games and Simulations 255
Equipment Simulators 255
Business Games 255
In-Basket Technique 258
Case Studies 258
Role Play 259
Behavior Modeling 260
Strengths and Limitations of Games and Simulations 260
On-the-Job Training 265
Job Instruction Technique (JIT) 266
Apprenticeship Training 267
Coaching 268
Training the Trainer for OJT 268
Strengths and Limitations of OJT 269
Audiovisual Enhancements to Training 270
Static Media 271
Dynamic Audiovisual Methods 272
Strengths and Limitations of Audiovisuals 274
Case Analysis 281

CHAPTER 7 Development and Implementation of Training 285
Instructional Methods 287
Lecture/Discussion 287
Demonstration 293
Computer-Based Training 295
Games and Simulations 301
Business Games, In-Basket, and Case Studies 302
Role Play and Behavior Modeling 305
On-the-Job Training 309
Audiovisual Enhancements 315
Static Media 316
Dynamic Media 318

Facilities 323
The Training Room 323
Off-Site Training Facilities 326
The Trainer 326
Trainer KSAs 326
Trainer Credibility 327
Integrated Instructional Strategy 328
Content: Learning Points 328
Method of Instruction 328
Facilities, Material and Equipment, and Trainers 329
The Strategy 330
The Alternative to Development 331
Implementation 334
Dry Run 335
Pilot Program 336
Tips for Trainers 336
Case Analysis 342

CHAPTER 8 Evaluation of Training 344
Rationale for Evaluation 345
Resistance to Training Evaluation 346
Nothing to Evaluate 346
No One Really Cares About Evaluating Training 346
Evaluation Is a Threat to My Job 347
So We Must Evaluate 347
Types of Evaluation Data Collected 348
Process Data 349
Outcome Data 351
Evaluation Design Issues 382
Basic Designs 382
More Complex Designs 383
What Design to Use 385
What About Small Business? 386
Case Analyses 390
Appendix 8.1 392

CHAPTER 9 Key Areas of Organizational Training 400
Orientation Training 402
Why It Is Important 402
What Organizations Are Doing 403
Training Points 412
Diversity Training 417
Why It Is Important 418
What Organizations Are Doing 420
Training Points 420

Sexual Harassment Training 422
Why It Is Important 423
What Organizations Are Doing 424
Training Points 424
Team Training 427
Why It Is Important 428
What Organizations Are Doing 429
Training Points 429
Other Training Programs and Issues 433
Training and Equity 433
The Glass Ceiling 433
Disabled 435
Basic Skills Training 436
Safety Training 437
Case Analysis 440

CHAPTER 10 Management Development 442
Why Focus on Management Development? 443
Managers Get a Lot of Training 443
Managers Are Accountable for Success 444
Managers' Jobs Are Complex 444
Our Approach to Management Development 445
General Overview of the Managerial Job 445
Managerial Roles 445
Organizational Factors 447
Integrating Strategy, Structure, and Technology 447
General Characteristics of Managers 448
Management Styles 448
Categories of Management Characteristics 449
Integrating Managerial Roles and Characteristics 451
Roles, KSAs, and Management Level 452
Integration: Strategies and Management Characteristics 452
Technical Competence and Context 452
Interpersonal Competence and Context 453
Conceptual Competence and Context 453
Personal Traits and Context 454
Management Style and Context 454
Management Development Implications 455
Understanding Context 455
Self-Awareness and Diagnostic Skills 456
Managerial Person Analysis 456
Sources of Knowledge/Skill Acquisition 458
Externally Based Training 458
Corporate Universities 459
Types of Management Development Programs 460

The Special Needs of the Technical Manager 463
History and Experience 463
Skills 463
Traits 463
Leadership Style 464
Strategies for Development of Technical Managers 464
Training for Executive-Level Management 464
Skills, Traits, and Leadership Style 465
Strategies for Development of Executives and Future Executives (Managers) 466
Succession Planning 469
What About Small Business? 472
Case Analysis 473

Endnotes 476

Index 501