principles of human resource development

second edition

jerry w. gilley, steven a. eggland, and ann maycunich gilley

Contents

List of Figures, xi
Dedication, xiii
About the Authors, xiv

1 Human Resource Development: An Introduction 1

What Is HRD? 2
What Are Human Resources? 4
What Is Development? 5
Essential Terms Defined, 7
The Mission and Purpose of HRD, 12
The Components of HRD, 13
Roles in HRD, 17
HRD Practice, 18
Professional Identity, 19
Strategy for Designing a Strategic HRD Function, 20
Conclusion, 24

PART ONE
COMPONENTS OF HRD

2 Individual Development 27

Evolution of Individual Development, 28
Roles in Individual Development, 29
Responsibilities in Individual Development, 30
Understanding How Employees Learn, 33
The Myth of Fixing Employee Weaknesses, 37
Learning Organizations, 39
Action Learning, 41

Improving Individual Development Through Learning Transfer, 46
Conclusion, 55

3 Career Development 57

Barriers to Career Development, 58
Introduction to Career Development, 59
Benefits of a Career Development System, 64
Career Development Within Organizations, 65
Organizations' Responsibilities in Career Development, 67
Employees' Responsibilities in Career Development, 87
Integration of Organizational and Employee Responsibilities, 92
Conclusion, 94

4 Performance Management 97

Evolution of Performance Management, 97
Types of Appraisal Opportunities that Improve Performance Planning, 102
Two Critical Components of Performance Management: Job Analysis and Design, 104
Human Performance System, 106
Performance Improvement Model, 109
Roles and Responsibilities in Performance Management, 110
Critical Strategies for Improving Performance in Organizations, 124
Conclusion, 134

5 Organizational Development 137

What Is Organizational Development? 137
Characteristics of Organizational Development, 140
Goals and Objectives of Organizational Development, 141
Value of Organizational Development, 143
The Organizational Development Process, 144
The Change Agent, 149
Individual Development and Organizational Development: A Relationship, 153
Conclusion, 158

PART TWO

ROLES AND COMPETENCIES IN HRD

6 Learning Agents, Instructional Designers, and Performance Engineers 163

Learning Agents, 163
Criteria for Selecting Learning Agents, 165
Activities of Learning Agents, 166
Instructional Designers, 170
Subrole of Instructional Designers, 171
Activities of Instructional Designers, 174
Competencies of Instructional Designers, 178
Performance Engineers, 179
Conclusion, 185

7 HRD Consultants 187

Trends in HRD Consulting, 188
Why Organizations Use HRD Consultants, 190
Types of HRD Consulting and Consultants, 191
Responsibilities of HRD Consultants, 194
HRD Consultants' Competencies and Skills, 195
Purposes of HRD Consulting, 198
Roles of HRD Consultants, 202
Applying the HRD Consulting Process, 208
Applying OD Roles During the OD Process, 214
Conclusion, 217

8 HRD Leaders 219

Why HRD Fails in Organizations and Who Is Responsible, 220
HRD Leaders in the Twenty-First-Century Organization, 222
Roles of HRD Leaders, 227
Competencies and Characteristics of Effective HRD Leaders, 234
Responsibilities of the HRD Leader, 236
Planning, Organizing, Staffing, and Controlling the HRD Function, 237
Conclusion, 247

PART THREE PRACTICES OF HRD

9 Analysis 251

Learning to Think Strategically, 252
Developing Support for Analysis Activities, 256
Needs Analysis, 259
Business Analysis, 260
Performance and Causal Analysis, 265
Organizational Analysis, 269
Conclusion, 296

10 Instructional Design 299

The Genesis of Individual Design, 299
Phases of Instructional Design, 300
Conclusion, 316

11 Learning Acquisition 319

The Ten Laws of Learning Acquisition, 320
Conclusion, 349

12 Learning Transfer 351

Factors Affecting Learning Transfer, 352
Learning Transfer Process, 356
Conclusion, 379

13 Evaluation 381

Evaluating HRD Philosophy and Practice, 382
Evaluating the Organizational Effectiveness Strategy, 388
Evaluating the Effectiveness of Partnerships, 396
Evaluating HRD Practice, 397
Evaluating HRD Tools and Techniques, 400
Validity, Reliability, and Utility, 401
Conclusion, 403

PART FOUR
BUILDING CREDIBILITY IN ORGANIZATIONS

14 Strategic Business Partnership 407

Why Are Strategic Business Partnerships Important? 408
Five Points of Developing Strategic Business Partnerships, 410
Creating a Customer Service Strategy, 413
Auditing HRD Interventions and Consulting Services, 417
Developing Collaborative Client Relationships, 419
Helping Clients Make Performance Improvement and Organizational Development Decisions, 426
Identifying Demand States, 431
Conclusion, 438

15 Positioning HRD Within Organizations 439

Developing a Promotional Strategy for HRD, 439
Conclusion, 464

References, 465
Index, 475