

MANAGING IT IN GOVERNMENT, BUSINESS & COMMUNITIES

Gerry Guignich

IRM Press

Managing IT in Government, Business & Communities

Table of Contents

Preface	vii
Gerry Gingrich, Information Resources Management College, USA

Section I: Managing IT Within Organizations

Chapter I. Adopting the Entrepreneurial Process in the Study of Information Systems and Small Business	1
M. Gordon Hunter, The University of Lethbridge, Canada
Wayne A. Long, The University of Calgary, Canada

Chapter II. Optimal Purchase Decision Criteria for Information Technology	15
P. Pete Chong, University of Houston-Downtown, USA
Ta-Tao Chuang, Gonzaga University, USA
Ming Chang, University of Houston-Downtown, USA
Jason C. H. Chen, Gonzaga University, USA

Chapter III. Creating Intranets for Management and Collaboration in Federal Agencies	28
Julianne G. Mahler, George Mason University, USA
Priscilla M. Regan, George Mason University, USA

Chapter IV. Maintaining the Own Responsibility: Selected Information Systems Architecture, Selective Outsourcing and Organizational Learning as a Base for a Sustainably Positioned Information Technology Service	43
Ruediger Weissbach, LBS Bausparkasse Hamburg Aktiengesellschaft, Germany

Chapter V. Using Spreadsheets as a Decision Support Tool: An Application for Small Businesses	57
Stephen Burgess, Victoria University, Australia
Don Schauder, Monash University, Australia

Chapter VI. Teaching Technology for Community	72
E. R. Jessup, University of Colorado, USA

Section II: Managing IT Across Regions and Countries

Chapter VII. Information Resources Development in China: History, Present Situation and Problem Discussion	81
Lai Maosheng, Peking University, China
Fu Xin, Peking University, China
Zhang Liyang, Peking University, China

Chapter VIII. An Analysis of Factors that Influence the Ability of SMEs to Derive Benefit in Four Phases of Electronic Commerce: 34 Australian Case Studies	97
Stephen B. Chau, University of Tasmania, Australia
Paul Turner, University of Tasmania, Australia

Chapter IX. Electronic Government in Japan: IT Utilization Status of Local Governments	111
Tatsumi Shimada, Setsunan University, Japan
Kiyoshi Ushida, Tokyo Metropolitan Government, Japan

Chapter X. Concerns and Solutions on Electronic Voting Systems Adoption	127
Yurong Yao, Louisiana State University, USA
Edward Watson, Louisiana State University, USA

Chapter XI. SME Barriers to Electronic Commerce Adoption: Nothing Changes — Everything is New	147
Carina Ihlström, Halmstad University, Sweden
Monika Magnusson, Karlstad University, Sweden
Ada Scupola, Roskilde University, Denmark
Virpi Kristiina Tuunainen, Helsinki School of Economics, Finland

Chapter XII. E-Business Development Issues in UK SMEs	164
Fiona Meikle, Leeds Metropolitan University, UK
Dianne Willis, Leeds Metropolitan University, UK
Chapter XIII. The Game of Internet B2B	175
Thomas O'Daniel, Monash University Malaysia, Malaysia
Teoh Say Yen, Monash University Malaysia, Malaysia

Section III: IT Addressing Globalization

Chapter XIV. Virtualisations and Its Role in Business	196
Jerzy Kisielnicki, Warsaw University, Poland
Chapter XV. Virtual Organization: Duality of Human Identities in Consciousness and Entity	207
Jinyoul Lee, State University of New York at Binghamton, USA
Bandula Jayatilaka, State University of New York at Binghamton, USA
Chapter XVI. Interorganizational Relationships, Strategic Alliances, and Networks: The Role of Communication Systems and Information Technologies	216
Keiichi Yamada, Nakamura Gakuen University, Japan
Chapter XVII. The Internationalization Efforts of Small Internet Retailers	246
Anand Ramchand, National University of Singapore, Singapore
Shan-Ling Pan, National University of Singapore, Singapore
Chapter XVIII. Using the Web for Enhancing Decision-Making: UN Project Failures in Sub-Sahara Africa (SSA)	259
David King, University of South Australia, Australia
About the Authors	277
Index	287