About the Authors xxi

Part I
Some Essential Questions in Communication Research: Why and What to Study?

1 The Claim-Data-Warrant Model 1
ABSTRACT 1
OUTLINE 1
Research Methods as Argument 2
General Ways of Knowing 3
Methodological Ways of Knowing 5
Knowing by Discovery 5
Knowing by Interpretation 7
Knowing by Criticism 8
Philosophical Perspectives of the Three Paradigms 9
Discovery Paradigm Perspective 10
Interpretive Paradigm Perspective 12
Critical Paradigm Perspective 13
Communication and Technology 14
SUMMARY 15
KEY TERMS 15
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 16
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 16
THE GREAT DEBATES: I 16
THE GREAT DEBATES: II 16
THE GREAT DEBATES: III 16
REVIEW ACTUAL COMMUNICATION STUDIES 17

2 Making Claims 19
ABSTRACT 19
OUTLINE 19
The Process of Making Claims 20
Definition of Claim 21
Types of Claims 22
The Interface of Technology and Claims 30
Using Technological Applications 30
Constructing Claims About Communication and Technology 31
SUMMARY 32
KEY TERMS 33
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 33
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITY
THE GREAT DEBATE 33

3 What Counts as Communication Data? 35
Abstract 35
Outline 35
Data Collection Sources 37
Observations of Communicative Interactions 37
Self-Reports of Communicative Behaviors, Beliefs, and Characteristics 37
Other-Reports of Communicative Behaviors, Beliefs, and Characteristics 38
Texts 38
Data Collection Settings 38
Data Collection Strategies 39
Selecting Data Sources 39
Capturing Observed Interactions 45
Capturing Self- and Other-Reports 46
Conceptual and Operational Definitions 46
Research Design 48
Design as a Bypassing Term 48
Cross-sectional and Longitudinal Research Designs 49
Triangulation 50
Multiple Data Sources 50
Multiple Data Settings 50
Multiple Data Collection Strategies 51
Multiple Data Analytic Strategies 51
Multiple Investigators' Viewpoints 52
Technology and Communication Data 53
Ethical Issues and Communication Data 54
Summary 55
Key Terms 56
Discussion Questions 57
"Try It!" Activity 57
The Great Debate: Ethical Dilemmas in Communication Data 57

4 Warrants for Research Arguments 59
Abstract 59
Outline 59
Discovery Paradigm Warrants 60
Scientific Values: Precision, Power, and Parsimony 60
Form of Argument: Demonstrating Causality 61
Reliability as a Standard for Evaluating Evidence 62
Validity as a Standard for Evaluating Evidence 64
Interpretive Paradigm Warrants 67
Interpretive Values: Subjectivity and Rich Description 67
Form of Argument: Demonstrating Multiple Realities 68
Researcher Credibility as a Standard for Evaluating Evidence 68
Plausible Interpretations as a Standard for Evaluating Evidence 71
Transferable Findings as a Standard for Evaluating Evidence 72
Critical Paradigm Warrants 74
Emancipatory Values: Voice and Liberation 75
Form of Argument: Demonstrating Ideological Need for Change 75
Researcher Positionality as a Standard for Evaluating Evidence 76
Three Views of Truth 77
Critical Paradigm 77
Interpretive Paradigm 78
Discovery Paradigm 79
Technology and Warrants for Research Arguments 79
Summary 80
Key Terms 80
Discussion Questions
"Try It!" Activity
The Great Debate: "How Should We Prioritize Research Values?" 81

Part II
Method Responses in Communication Research: How to Conduct Communication Research

5 Survey Research 83
Abstract 83
Outline 83

Survey Research Claims 84
Descriptive Claims 84
Explanatory Claims 84
Survey Research Data 87
Sources for Data Collection 87
Settings for Data Collection 87
Survey Research Design 88
Data Sampling Strategies 88
Capturing Self- and Other-Reports 91
Instrumentation and the Measurement of Survey Data 98
Survey Research Warrants 104
Response Rate as an Essential Contributor to Validity and Reliability 105
Establishing Valid Measurement 105
Establishing Reliable Measurement 106
Surveys and Technology 107
SUMMARY 108
KEY TERMS 109
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 109
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 110

6 Experimental Research 111
ABSTRACT 111
OUTLINE 111
Experimental Research Claims 112
Deductive Process 112
Causal Arguments 112
Experimental Research Data 114
Data Sources 114
Data Settings 115
Research Designs and Experimental Control 116
Data Collection and Analysis 121
Experimental Research Warrants 124
Internal Validity Threats 124
External Validity Threats 128
Technology and Experimental Research 129
Technology as Experimental Research Content 129
Technology in the Experimental Research Process 130
SUMMARY 131
KEY TERMS 131
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 132
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 132

7 Content and Interaction Analyses 133
ABSTRACT 133
OUTLINE 133
Claims of Content and Interaction Analyses 136
Descriptive Claims 136
Explanatory and Predictive Claims 137
Evaluation and Reform Claims 138
Data for Content and Interaction Analyses 139
Selecting Representative Sample Data 140
Data Treatment for Content Analysis 143
Data Treatment for Interaction Analysis 144
Quantitative Data Analysis 146
Warrants for Content and Interaction Analyses 147
Reliability of Coding and Rating 148
Validity of Coding or Rating Schemes 148
External Validity 149
Technology and Content and Interaction Analyses 150
Claims About CMC Content or Interactions 151
CMC as a Source of Data 151
Computer Software for Categorizing Content 151
SUMMARY 152
KEY TERMS 152
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 152
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 152

8 Descriptive Statistics and Hypothesis Testing 155
OUTLINE 155
Descriptive Statistical Analyses 156
Visual Representations of Variables 156
Sample Distribution Characteristics 161
Inferential Statistics 166
Three Types of Distributions 166

Estimation and Inference 167
The Logic of Hypothesis Testing 169
Technology and Descriptive Statistics 170
SUMMARY 171
KEY TERMS 171
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 172
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 172

9 Testing Differences and Relationships 173
ABSTRACT 173
OUTLINE 173
Tests of Differences 174
Nonparametric Tests 174
Parametric Tests 179
Tests of Relationships 190
Correlation 190
Bivariate and Multivariate Statistical Analysis 194
Technology and Statistical Analyses 197
Analytic Software Tools 197
Data Sets 198
SUMMARY 198
KEY TERMS 198
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 199
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 199

10 Conversation and Discourse Analysis 201
OUTLINE 201
The Roots of Conversation and Discourse Analyses in Ethnomethodology 203
Conversation and Discourse Analytic Claims 204
Descriptive Claims 204
Explanatory and Predictive Claims 207
Interpretive Claims 209
Conversation and Discourse Analytic Data 210
Collecting Interaction Data in Natural Contexts 210
Transcribing Interaction Data 213
Determining the Unit of Analysis 215
Discovering the Structure and Function of Conversational Units 216
Analytic Induction 217
Conversation and Discourse Analytic Warrants 218
Transcription Veracity 218
Detail Level 219
Sample Naturalness 219
Additional (Con)text Sources 219
Technology and Conversation/Discourse Analysis 220
SUMMARY 221
KEY TERMS 221
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 222
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 222

11 Ethnographic Research 223
ABSTRACT 223
OUTLINE 223
Ethnographic Claims 225
Descriptive Claims 226
Interpretive Claims 227
Evaluative Claims 228
Critical Ethnography as a Bridge to Reform Claims 229
Ethnographic Data 230
Sources for Data Collection 230
Strategies for Data Collection 233
Strategies for Data Analysis 235
Ethnographic Warrants 237
Valuing Subjectivity and Rich Description 238
Researcher Credibility 238
Plausible Interpretations 239
Transferable Findings 241
Technology and Ethnographic Research 242
SUMMARY 243
KEY TERMS 243
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 244
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 244

12 Traditional and Interpretive Methods of Rhetorical Criticism 245

ABSTRACT 245
OUTLINE 245
Traditional Rhetorical Criticism 246
Neo-Aristotelian Criticism 246
Historical Criticism 250
Genre Criticism 251
Interpretive Rhetorical Criticism 254
Metaphoric Criticism 254
Dramatism 256
Fantasy Theme Analysis 259
Narrative Analysis 261
Technology and Rhetorical Criticism 263
Technology as Content of Rhetorical Criticism 263
Technology in the Process of Rhetorical Criticism 263
SUMMARY 264
KEY TERMS 265
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 265
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 266

13 Critical Studies 267

ABSTRACT 267
OUTLINE 267
Claims for Critical Studies 269
Describing, Evaluating, and Reforming Social Structures 269
Evaluating and Reinventing Discourse Processes 272
Data/Evidence in Critical Studies 275
Actions and Events 276
Texts 276
Researchers' Experiences and Beliefs 277
Analytic Moves in Critical Studies 278
Deconstruction 278
Narrative Analyses 279
Dialectical Analyses 280
Speech Act Analyses 280
Warrants for Critical Studies 281
Establishing Coherence 281
Acknowledging Subjectivity 282
Acknowledging Freedom of Choice 282
Evaluating Public Discourse 283
Technology and Critical Studies 284
SUMMARY 284
KEY TERMS 285
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS 285
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITIES 286

Appendix A Writing Research Reports and Critical Essays 287

ABSTRACT 287
OUTLINE 287
Audiences for Communication Research 288
Professional Associations 289
Scholarly Journals 289
Trade Journals and Popular Press Publications 290
Research Reports and Critical Essays: Two Kinds of Manuscripts 292
Writing Research Reports 292
Writing Critical Essays 296
Academic Writing Style 298
Characteristics of Discovery Research Reports 299
Precise, Detailed, Objective Reporting 299
Organizing Empirical Research Reports 300
Characteristics of Interpretive Research Reports 301
Writing as a Form of Inquiry 301
Telling Multiple Tales 301
Organizing Interpretive Field Research Reports 303
Characteristics of Critical Studies Essays 304
Writing Interesting Fiction 305
Organizing Critical Studies Essays 306
Disclosing the Author's Standpoint 306
KEY TERMS 306
"TRY IT!" ACTIVITY 307

Appendix B Table of Random Numbers 308
Appendix C Chi-Square Distribution 310
Appendix D Critical Values for Student's t Distribution 311
Appendix E Critical Values for the F Distribution 312
Appendix F Correlation Distribution Table 315
Appendix G "Try It!" Activities Answer Key for Chapters 8 and 9 316
Glossary 317
