CONTENTS

Preface	xi
Part I: What Is Marketing Research?	1
1. The Nature of Marketing Research	3
What Is Marketing Research?	4
The Characteristics of Marketing Management	12
Marketing Research in Marketing Information Systems	17
Manager-Researcher Dialogue	19
Marketing Research Organizations	21
Ethical Issues in Marketing Research	22
Summary	32
Assignment Material	33
References	35
2. Planning for Marketing Research and the Research Process	37
Overview of the Planning Process	38
Stage 1: Problem Formulation	39
Stage 2: Method of Inquiry	50
Stage 3: Research Method	52
Stage 4: Research Design	52
Stage 5: Data Collection Techniques	53
Stage 6: Sample Design	53
Stage 7: Data Collection	54
Stage 8: Analysis and Interpretation	54
Stage 9: The Research Report	54
The Research Plan	55
Make or Buy Decision	58
Additional Considerations	61
Summary	67
Appendix 2.1 Illustration of Research Proposals	68
Assignment Material	74
References	74
3. Research Design	76
Research Design Characteristics	76
Sources of Marketing Information	90

Types of Errors Affecting Research Designs	94
Methods for Dealing With Potential Errors	101
Choosing a Research Design	103
Summary	103
Assignment Material	103
References	105
Cases for Part I	106
Part II: Techniques for Obtaining Data	121
4. Secondary Data and Sources	123
In This Chapter	123
Reasons for Obtaining Secondary Information	124
Types of Secondary Information	126
Sources of External Secondary Data	129
Syndicated Services	143
Summary	154
Appendix 4.1 Selected Secondary Sources	155
Assignment Material	163
References	164
5. Information From Respondents	166
Types of Information That Can Be Obtained From Respondents	167
Form of Interviews	181
Modes of Interviewing	188
Strategies of Data Collection	213
The Use of Panels	215
Summary	217
Assignment Material	217
References	218
6. Online Marketing Research	221
E-Mail Survey Error	223
Probability and Nonprobability Survey Approaches	229
Test Marketing Plugs Into the Internet	231
Internet Survey Software	236
Online Survey Capabilities and Technologies	237
Online Qualitative Research	239
Summary	246
Assignment Material	246
References	247
7. Qualitative Research and Observation	249
Indirect Interviews and Qualitative Research	249
Means-End Analysis	267
Other Techniques	271
Observation	273
Direct Versus Indirect Research Techniques—An Assessment	279

Summary	282
Assignment Material	282
References	283
8. Experimentation	285
The Nature of Experimentation	287
Ingredients of a Marketing Experiment	289
Sources of Invalidity	295
Models of Experimental Design	303
Panels and Experimental Design	319
Field Experimentation in Marketing	320
Summary	323
Assignment Material	323
References	325
Cases for Part II	326
Part III: Measurement	345
9. General Concepts of Measurement	347
Definitions in Marketing Measurement	348
Measurement Concepts	352
Sources of Variation in Measurement	358
Validity and Reliability of Measurement	360
Summary	368
Assignment Material	368
References	370
10. Measurement and Scaling in Marketing Research	371
Data Collection Methods	371
Techniques for Scaling Stimuli	387
Techniques for Scaling Respondents	396
Scaling Both Stimuli and Respondents	403
Multi-Item Scales	405
Limitations of Scaling Procedures	407
Summary	408
Assignment Material	408
References	410
11. Designing Questionnaires	413
Asking Questions	414
Inaccuracy	415
Ambiguity	422
Some Concluding Comments	443
Summary	447
Assignment Material	447
References	450
Appendix 11.1 Applied Measurement and Scaling	452
Cases for Part III	465

Part IV: Sampling	497
12. Sampling Procedures in Marketing Research	499
Planning the Sample	499
Nonprobability Sampling Procedures	508
Probability Sampling Designs	514
Sampling for Telephone Surveys	518
International Research	523
Summary	524
Assignment Material	524
References	525
13. Sample Size	527
Fixed Versus Sequential Sampling	528
Sampling Distributions and Standard Errors	528
Methods of Estimating Sample Size	531
Determining Sample Size for
Other Probability-Sample Designs	543
Evaluation of the Traditional Approach	545
Summary	546
Assignment Material	546
Endnote	547
References	548
Cases for Part IV	549
Part V: Analyzing Data	551
14. The Analysis Process—Basic Concepts of Editing, Coding, and Descriptive Analysis	553
An Overview of the Analysis Process	553
Basic Concepts of Analyzing Associative Data	567
More on Cross-Tabulation	567
Presentation of Descriptive Analyses	575
Summary	576
Assignment Material	576
References	577
15. Hypothesis Testing and Univariate Analysis	579
Formulating Hypotheses	579
Making Inferences	582
Selecting Tests of Statistical Significance	591
Parametric and Nonparametric Analysis	593
Summary	604
Assignment Material	605
References	605
16. Bivariate Analysis: Differences Between Sample Groups	607
Bivariate Cross-Tabulation	607
Computer Programs for Cross-Tabulation	610

Bivariate Analysis: Differences in Means and Proportions	611
Testing of Group Means: Analysis of Variance	617
Summary	627
Appendix 16.1 Nonparametric Analysis	628
Assignment Material	633
References	635
17. Bivariate analysis: measures of association	636
Correlation Analysis	636
Bivariate Regression Analysis	640
Rank Correlation	651
Summary	654
Assignment Material	655
References	656
18. Multivariate Statistical Analysis	657
An Overview of Multivariate Procedures	658
Multiple and Partial Regression	663
Two-Group Discriminant Analysis	673
Other Criterion-Predictor Association Multivariate Techniques	690
Summary	701
Assignment Material	701
References	705
19. Multivariate Analysis: Factor Analysis, Clustering Methods, Multidimensional Scaling, and Conjoint Analysis	707
An Introduction to the Basic Concepts of Factor Analysis	708
Identifying the Factors	712
Basic Concepts of Cluster Analysis	715
Multidimensional Scaling Fundamentals	721
Marketing Applications of MDS	726
Collecting Data for MDS	727
Fundamentals of Conjoint Analysis	728
Other Aspects of Conjoint Analysis	736
Summary	739
Assignment Material	740
Endnote	742
References	742
Cases for Part V	743
Part VI. The Research Report	775
20. Reporting Research Results	777
Communication	777
The Research Report	779
Report Format And Organization	785
Use of Graphics	791

The Oral Report	808
Summary	810
Assignment Material	810
References	811

Appendix A: Statistical Tables	813
Glossary of Terms	827
Name Index	849
Subject Index	855
About the Authors	881
