

BRIEF EDITION

The Allyn & Bacon Guide to Writing

Fourth Edition

4

JOHN D. RAMAGE

JOHN C. BEAN

JUNE JOHNSON

Detailed Contents

Writing Projects xxv
Thematic Contents xxvii
Preface xxxv

PART ONE

A Rhetoric for College Writers 2

CHAPTER 1 Posing Problems: The Demands of College Writing 5

Why Take a Writing Course? 6

Subject-Matter Problems: The Starting Point of Writing 7

Shared Problems Unite Writers and Readers 7 • Posing a Problem: A Case Study of a Beginning College Writer 8 • Posing Your Own Subject-Matter Questions 9 • Characteristics of Good Subject-Matter Questions 11

Rhetorical Problems: Reaching Readers Effectively 15

An Example of a Rhetorical Problem: When to Choose Closed Versus Open Forms 16

READINGS 17

David Rockwood, "A Letter to the Editor" 17

Thomas Merton, "A Festival of Rain" 18

Distinctions between Closed and Open Forms of Writing 19 • Where to Place Your Writing along the Continuum 20

Chapter Summary 22

BRIEF WRITING PROJECT 22

READINGS 23

Noel Gaudette (student), "Questions about Genetically Modified Foods" 23

Brittany Tinker (student), "Can the World Sustain an American Standard of Living?" 23

Showing Why Your Question Is Problematic and Significant (Option 2) 24 • Planning Your Essay 26

CHAPTER 2 Exploring Problems, Making Claims 27

What Does a Professor Want? 28

Learning to Wallow in Complexity 28 • Seeing Each Academic Discipline as a Field of Inquiry and Argument 30

Posing an Engaging Question 30

How a Prototypical Introduction Poses a Question and Proposes an Answer 32

Seeking a Surprising Thesis 34

Try to Change Your Reader's View of Your Subject 35 • Give Your Thesis Tension 36

Supporting Your Thesis with Points and Particulars 38

How Points Convert Information to Meaning 39 • How Removing Particulars Creates a Summary 40 • How to Use Points and Particulars When You Revise 41

Chapter Summary 41

BRIEF WRITING PROJECT 41

Playing the Believing and Doubting Game 42

READING 42

Anonymous (student), "Believing and Doubting Paul Theroux's Negative View of Sports" 43

Option 1: Energy Issues 44 • Option 2: Other Issues 46

CHAPTER 3 Thinking Rhetorically about Purpose, Audience, and Genre 47

How Writers Think about Purpose 48

Purpose as Rhetorical Aim 48 • Purpose as a Response to a Motivating Occasion 48 • Purpose as a Desire to Change Your Reader's View 51

How Writers Think about Audience 52

Assessing Your Audience 53

How Writers Think about Genre 54

Rhetorical Context and Your Choices about Structure 56

Rhetorical Context and Your Choices about Style 57

Factors That Affect Style 57 • Recognizing Different Styles and Voices 57

Rhetorical Context and Your Choices along the Scale of Abstraction 60

Rhetorical Context and Your Choices about Document Design 62

Key Components of Document Design 63 • Examples of Different Document Designs 65

A Generic Rhetorical Context for College Writing 69

What Do We Mean by a "Default" or "Generic" Rhetorical Context? 69 • Assignments That Specify Different Rhetorical Contexts 70

Chapter Summary 70

BRIEF WRITING PROJECT 70

CHAPTER 4 Thinking Rhetorically about How Messages Persuade 73

A Brief Introduction to Rhetorical Theory 74

Rhetoric and Symbolic Action 75 • Inducing Cooperation: Rhetoric as Inquiry and Persuasion 76 • Persuasion and Power 78

The Appeals to Logos, Ethos, and Pathos 78

Angle of Vision 80

Recognizing the Angle of Vision in a Text 80 • Analyzing Angle of Vision 84

Thinking Rhetorically about Any Cultural “Text” 85

Visual Rhetoric 85 • The Rhetoric of Clothing and Other Consumer Items 88

Chapter Summary 90

BRIEF WRITING PROJECT 91

Background and Readings 91

PART TWO

Writing Projects 94

WRITING TO LEARN

CHAPTER 5 Seeing Rhetorically: The Writer as Observer 97

About Seeing Rhetorically 97

Exploring Rhetorical Observation 97

Exhibit 1: Web Page of the Arctic Power Advocacy Group 98 • Exhibit 2: Photograph from a Pro-Environment Newspaper Op Ed Piece 99 • Exhibit 3: Photograph Juxtaposing Alaskan Wildlife and Industry 99 • Exhibit 4: Photograph and Description on the Arctic Power Web Site 100 • Exhibit 5: Excerpt from a Newspaper Feature Article 100 • Analyzing the Exhibits 101

WRITING PROJECT 101

Understanding Observational Writing 102

Considering the Factors That Shape Perception 103 • Conducting a Simple Rhetorical Analysis 105

READINGS 108

“Clash on the Congo: Two Eye Witness Accounts” 108

Composing Your Essay 110

Exploring Rationales and Details for Your Two Descriptions 110 • Generating Details 111 • Shaping and Drafting Your Two Descriptions 111 • Using Show Words Rather than Tell Words 112 • Revising Your Two Descriptions 113 • Generating and Exploring Ideas for Your Self-Reflection 114

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 115

CHAPTER 6 Reading Rhetorically: The Writer as Strong Reader 117

About Reading Rhetorically 117

Exploring Rhetorical Reading 117

READING 118

Andrés Martin, M.D., "On Teenagers and Tattoos" 118

WRITING PROJECT 122

Understanding Rhetorical Reading 122

What Makes College-Level Reading Difficult? 123 • Using the Reading Strategies of Experts 124 • Reading With the Grain and Against the Grain 125

Understanding Summary Writing 126

Reading for Structure and Content 126

Understanding Strong Response Writing 131

Kinds of Strong Responses 131 • Student Example of a Summary/Strong Response Essay: Sean Barry, "Why Do Teenagers Get Tattoos? A Response to Andrés Martin" 132 • Questions for Analyzing and Critiquing a Text 134 • Questions for Analyzing and Critiquing a Visual-Verbal Text 137 • Questions for Developing Your Own Views about the Text's Subject Matter 139 • Rereading Strategies to Stimulate Thinking for a Strong Response 141

READINGS 144

Florence King, "I'd Rather Smoke than Kiss" 144

Lyndon Haviland, "A Silence That Kills" 150

Gasp Consultancy, Ltd., "Steps to Stopping Smoking" 154

Adbusters.org, "Welcome to Malboro Country" 156

Edward Abbey, "The Damnation of a Canyon" 157

Friends of Lake Powell, Home Page 161

Composing Your Summary/Strong Response Essay 162

Generating and Exploring Ideas for Your Summary 162 • Shaping, Drafting, and Revising Your Summary 162 • Generating and Exploring Ideas for Your Strong Response 163 • Writing a Thesis for a Strong Response Essay 164 • Revising Your Strong Response 164

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 165

WRITING TO EXPRESS

CHAPTER 7 Writing an Autobiographical Narrative 167

About Autobiographical Narrative 167

Exploring Autobiographical Narrative 168

WRITING PROJECT 169

Understanding Autobiographical Writing 170

Autobiographical Tension: The Opposition of Contraries 170 • Using the Elements of Literary Narrative to Generate Ideas 170

READINGS 176

Kris Saknussemm, "Phantom Limb Pain" 176

Patrick José (student), "No Cats in America?" 178

Anonymous (student), "Masks" 181

Sheila Madden, "Letting Go of Bart" 184
Composing Your Essay 186
Generating and Exploring Ideas 187 • Shaping and Drafting 188
• Revising 188
Guidelines for Peer Reviews 189

WRITING TO EXPLORE

CHAPTER 8 Writing an Exploratory Essay 191

About Exploratory Writing 191
Exploring Exploratory Writing 192
WRITING PROJECT 194
Understanding Exploratory Writing 194
The Essence of Exploratory Prose: Considering Multiple Solutions 195
READINGS 197
Christopher Leigh (student), "An Exploration of How to Prevent Violence in Schools" 197
Dylan Fujitani (student), "Hired Guns: Uncovering the Nature of Private Militaries in the Iraq War" 202
Composing Your Exploratory Essay 209
Generating and Exploring Ideas 209 • Continuing with Research and Dialectic Thinking 212 • Shaping and Drafting 213 • Revising 215
Guidelines for Peer Reviews 216

WRITING TO INFORM

CHAPTER 9 Writing an Informative (and Surprising) Essay 219

About Informative (and Surprising) Writing 219
Informative Writing and the Audience's Reasons for Reading 219 • The Rhetorical Power of "Surprising Reversal" 220
Exploring Informative (and Surprising) Writing 221
READINGS 221
EnchantedLearning.com, "Tarantulas" 221
Rod Crawford, "Myths about 'Dangerous' Spiders" 222
WRITING PROJECT 224
Understanding Informative (and Surprising) Writing 225
Informative Reports 225 • Informative Writing Using Surprising Reversal 226
READINGS 228
New York Times, "Growing More Oil Dependent, One Vehicle at a Time" 228

Kerri Ann Matsumoto (student), "How Much Does It Cost to Go Organic?"	230
Cheryl Carp (student), "Behind Stone Walls"	231
Shannon King (student), "How Clean and Green Are Fuel-Cell Cars?"	233
Jonathan Rauch, "Coming to America"	236
Composing Your Essay—Option A, Informative Report	239
Generating and Exploring Ideas	239
• Shaping and Drafting	239
• Revising	240
Composing Your Essay—Option B, Informative Writing Using Surprising Reversal	240
Generating and Exploring Ideas	241
• Shaping and Drafting	242
• Revising	244
Guidelines for Peer Reviews	244

WRITING TO ANALYZE AND SYNTHESIZE

CHAPTER 10 Analyzing Field Research Data from Observation, Interviews, or Questionnaires 247

About Analyzing Field Research Data 247

Exploring the Analysis of Field Research Data 247

WRITING PROJECT 248

Understanding the Analysis of Field Research Data 249

- The Structure of an Empirical Research Report 249
- How Readers Typically Read a Research Report 251
- Posing Your Research Question 252
- Collecting Data Through Observation, Interviews, or Questionnaires 255
- Reporting Your Results in Words and Graphics 261
- Analyzing Your Results 265
- Following Ethical Standards 269

READINGS 270

Gina Escamilla, Angie L. Cradock, and Ichiro Kawachi, "Women and Smoking in Hollywood Movies: A Content Analysis" 271

Brittany Tinker, Trevor Tsuchikawa, and Tatiana Whizar (students), "Energy Literacy: A Comparative Study of Seattle University Students Against a National Sample" (APA-Style Research Paper) 277

Composing Your Research Report 290

Writing in Teams 290

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 290

CHAPTER 11 Analyzing Images 293

About Analyzing Images 293

Exploring Image Analysis 295

WRITING PROJECT 296

Understanding Image Analysis 297

- How Images Create a Rhetorical Effect 297 • How to Analyze an Advertisement 303 • How Advertisers Target Specific Audiences 304
- Sample Analysis of an Advertisement 306 • Cultural Perspectives on Advertisements 309

READINGS 315

- Paul Messaris, from Visual Persuasion: The Role of Images in Advertising 315
- Stephen Bean (student), "How Cigarette Advertisers Address the Stigma Against Smoking: A Tale of Two Ads" 320

Composing Your Essay 324

- Generating and Exploring Ideas 324 • Shaping and Drafting 324
- Revising 325

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 325CHAPTER 12 Analyzing a Short Story 327

About Literary Analysis 327

Exploring Literary Analysis 328

READING 328

- Evelyn Dahl Reed, "The Medicine Man" 328

WRITING PROJECT 329

- Essay Assignment 330 • Reading Log Assignment 330

Understanding Literary Analysis 331

- The Truth of Literary Events 331 • Reading the Story 332 • Writing (about) Literature 333

READINGS 338

- Alice Walker, "Everyday Use (For Your Grandmama)" 338
- David Updike, "Summer" 345
- Betsy Weiler (student), "Who Do You Want to Be? Finding Heritage in Walker's 'Everyday Use'" 349

Composing Your Essay 352

- Generating and Exploring Ideas 352 • Shaping and Drafting 354
- Revising 354

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 355CHAPTER 13 Analyzing and Synthesizing Ideas 357

About the Analysis and Synthesis of Ideas 357

Exploring the Analysis and Synthesis of Ideas 359

READINGS 359

- John Gallagher, "Young Entrepreneurs' Disdain for Time Off" 359
- Keith Goetzman, "The Late, Great Outdoors" 361

WRITING PROJECT 363

- Suggested Ideas for Synthesis Questions and Readings 364 •
- An Explanation of the Student Examples in This Chapter 366

Understanding Analysis and Synthesis 366

- The Challenge of Synthesizing Ideas 366 • Understanding Your Texts Through Summary Writing 366 • Examining the Rhetorical Strategies Used in Your Texts 368 • Identifying Main Themes and Examining Similarities and Differences in the Ideas in Your Texts 369 • Moving Toward Your Own Views 371 • Taking Your Position in the Conversation: Your Synthesis 372 • Student Example of a Synthesis Essay: Kate MacAulay, "Technology's Peril and Potential" 374

READINGS 376

- Ellen Goodman, "The Big Fat Case Against Big Macs" 377
- Dale Buss, "Is the Food Industry the Problem or the Solution?" 378
- Marilynn Larkin, "Can Cities Be Designed to Fight Obesity?" 381

Composing Your Synthesis Essay 386

- Generating and Exploring Ideas 386 • Shaping and Drafting 386
- Writing a Thesis for a Synthesis Essay 387 • Possible Organizations for Synthesis Essays 387 • Revising 388

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 388

WRITING TO PERSUADE

CHAPTER 14 Writing a Classical Argument 391

About Classical Argument 391

Exploring Classical Argument 392

WRITING PROJECT 393

Understanding Classical Argument 394

- Stages of Development: Your Growth as an Arguer 394 • Creating an Argument Frame: A Claim with Reasons 395 • Articulating Reasons 397 • Articulating Unstated Assumptions 398 • Using Evidence Effectively 400 • Addressing Objections and Counterarguments 403 • Responding to Objections, Counterarguments, and Alternative Views Through Refutation or Concession 406 • Appealing to Ethos and Pathos 408 • Some Advanced Considerations 410

READINGS 414

- Ross Taylor (student), "Paintball: Promoter of Violence or Healthy Fun?" 414
- Clay Bennett, "Patriots" 418
- John Ashcroft, "Prepared Remarks of Attorney General Ashcroft at the Federalist Society National Convention" 419
- James Bovard, "Surveillance State" 426
- Leonard Pitts, Jr., "Spare the Rod, Spoil the Parenting" 433
- A. J. Chavez (student), "The Case for (Gay) Marriage" 435

Composing Your Essay 440

- Generating and Exploring Ideas 440 • Shaping and Drafting 442
- Revising 444

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 444

CHAPTER 15 Making an Evaluation 447

About Evaluative Writing 447

Exploring Evaluative Writing 448

WRITING PROJECT 449

Understanding Evaluation Arguments 450

- The Criteria-Match Process of Evaluation Arguments 450 • The Role of Purpose and Context in Determining Criteria 452 • Other Considerations in Establishing Criteria 453 • Using Toulmin's System to Develop Evaluation Arguments 455 • Conducting an Evaluation Argument: An Extended Example of Evaluating a Museum 456

READINGS 460

- Jackie Wyngaard (student), "EMP: Music History or Music Trivia?" 460
- Diane Helman and Phyllis Bookspan, "Sesame Street: Brought to You by the Letters M-A-L-E" 463
- Cecily Ballou (student), "Shanghai Noon Is Not the Same Old West" 465

Composing Your Essay 470

- Generating and Exploring Ideas 470 • Shaping and Drafting 472
- Revising 472

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 472

CHAPTER 16 Proposing a Solution 475

About Proposal Writing 475

Exploring Proposal Writing 476

WRITING PROJECT 477

Understanding Proposal Writing 478

- Special Demands of Proposal Arguments 478 • Developing an Effective Justification Section 480

Proposal Arguments as Public Affairs Advocacy Advertisements 482

- Understanding the Power of Condensed Advocacy Arguments 482
- Document Design Features of Advocacy Advertisements 484 • Creating an Advocacy Poster, Flyer, Brochure, One-Page Advertisement, or Web Page 485

READINGS 486

- Rebekah Taylor (student), "A Proposal to Provide Cruelty-Free Products on Campus" 487
- Jennifer Allen, "The Athlete on the Sidelines" 492

Dylan Fujitani (student), “‘The Hardest of the Hardcore’: Let’s Outlaw Hired Guns in Contemporary American Warfare” 494

Composing Your Essay 500

- Generating and Exploring Ideas 500 • Shaping and Drafting 501
- Revising 502

Guidelines for Peer Reviews 502

PART THREE

A Guide to Composing and Revising 504

CHAPTER 17 Writing as a Problem-Solving Process 507

Understanding How Experts Compose and Revise 508

A Working Description of the Writing Process 510

Improving Your Own Writing Processes 512

- Practice the Composing Strategies of Experienced Writers 512 • Explore Ideas through Freewriting, Idea Mapping, and Good Talking 514 • Draft Purposefully 516 • After Drafting, Revise Globally 517 • Recognize Kinds of Changes Typically Made in Drafts 518

Using Peer Reviews to Stimulate Revision 519

- Becoming a Helpful Reader of Classmates’ Drafts 519 • Conducting a Peer Review Workshop 528 • Responding to Peer Reviews 525

Chapter Summary 526

CHAPTER 18 Composing and Revising Closed-Form Prose 527

Lesson 1: Understanding Reader Expectations 528

- Unity and Coherence 528 • Old before New 529 • Forecasting and Fulfillment 530

Lesson 2: Converting Loose Structures into Thesis/Support Structures 531

- And Then* Writing, or Chronological Structure 532 • All About Writing, or Encyclopedic Structure 533 • Engfish Writing, or Structure without Surprise 534

Lesson 3: Planning and Visualizing Your Structure 535

- Use Scratch Outlines Early in the Writing Process 535 • Before Making a Detailed Outline, “Nutshell” Your Argument 536 • Articulate a Working Thesis and Main Points 537 • Sketch Your Structure Using an Outline, Tree Diagram, or Flowchart 537 • Let the Structure Evolve 540

Lesson 4: Writing Effective Titles and Introductions 542

- What Not to Do: The “Funnel Introduction” 542 • From Old to New: The General Principle of Closed-Form Introductions 542 • Typical Elements of a Closed-Form Introduction 544 • Forecasting the Whole with a Thesis

- Statement, Purpose Statement, or Blueprint Statement 545 • Writing Effective Titles 546
- Lesson 5: Placing Points before Particulars 548
- Place Topic Sentences at the Beginning of Paragraphs 549 • Revise Paragraphs for Unity 550 • Add Particulars to Support Points 551
- Lesson 6: Signaling Relationships with Transitions 552
- Use Common Transition Words to Signal Relationships 553 • Write Major Transitions between Parts 555 • Signal Transitions with Headings and Subheadings 556
- Lesson 7: Binding Sentences Together by Following the Old/New Contract 556
- An Explanation of the Old/New Contract 556 • How to Make Links to the “Old” 558 • Avoid Ambiguous Use of “This” to Fulfill the Old/New Contract 560 • How the Old/New Contract Modifies the Rule “Avoid Weak Repetition” 561 • How the Old/New Contract Modifies the Rule “Prefer Active over Passive Voice” 561
- Lesson 8: Learning Four Expert Moves for Organizing and Developing Ideas 562
- The For Example Move 562 • The Summary/However Move 563 • The Division-into-Parallel-Parts Move 564 • The Comparison/Contrast Move 566
- Lesson 9: Writing Effective Conclusions 567
- The Simple Summary Conclusion 568 • The Larger Significance Conclusion 568 • The Proposal Conclusion 568 • The Scenic or Anecdotal Conclusion 569 • The Hook and Return Conclusion 569 • The Delayed-Thesis Conclusion 569
- Lesson 10: Using Document Design Effectively 570
- Match Your Document Design to the Genre Expectations of Your Audience 570 • Consider Document Design an Important Part of Your Ethos 571 • Use Document Design Components for Clarity and Emphasis 571 • Use Design Components to Highlight and Reinforce—but Not Replace—Transitions, Points, and Key Explanations in the Text Itself 572

CHAPTER 19 Composing and Revising Open-Form Prose 573

- Lesson 1: Make Your Narrative a Story, Not an And Then Chronology 574

READINGS 574

- Patrick Klein (student), “Berkeley Blues” 574
- Depiction of Events Through Time 578 • Connectedness 580 • Tension or Conflict 580 • Resolution, Recognition, or Retrospective Interpretation 581
- Lesson 2: Write Low on the Ladder of Abstraction 582
- Concrete Words Evoke Images and Sensations 582 • Using Revelatory Words and Memory-Soaked Words 584
- Lesson 3: Disrupt Your Reader’s Desire for Direction and Clarity 585
- Disrupting Predictions and Making Odd Juxtapositions 586 • Leaving Gaps 586

Lesson 4: Tap the Power of Figurative Language	587
Lesson 5: Expand Your Repertoire of Styles	588
Lesson 6: Use Open-Form Elements to Create “Voice” in Closed-Form Prose	590
Introducing Some Humor	591 • Using Techniques from Popular Magazines 592
READING	594
Annie Dillard, “Living Like Weasels”	594

PART FOUR

A Rhetorical Guide to Research 598

CHAPTER 20 An Introduction to Research 601

An Overview of Part Four, “A Rhetorical Guide to Research”	601
Introduction to Research Writing	601
Why Research Writing Poses Difficulties for Novice Writers	603
Learning How to Ask Research Questions	603 • Learning How to Find Sources 603 • Learning Why to Find Sources 603 • Learning How to Read Sources Rhetorically 604 • Learning How to Work Sources into Your Own Writing 604 • Learning How to Cite and Document Sources 605
Seven Essential Skills for Novice Researchers	605

CHAPTER 21 Finding and Evaluating Sources 607

Skill 1: Compose and Argue Your Own Thesis	607
Formulating a Research Question	607 • Establishing Your Role as a Researcher 608 • A Case Study: Christopher Leigh’s Research on School Violence 610
Skill 2: Understand the Different Kinds of Sources	611
Looking at Sources Rhetorically	611
Skill 3: Use Purposeful Strategies for Searching Libraries, Databases, and Web Sites	615
Perusing Your Library’s Home Page	616 • Finding Books: Searching Your Library’s Online Catalog 616 • Finding Print Articles: Searching a Licensed Database 617 • Finding Cyberspace Sources: Searching the World Wide Web 620
Skill 4: Use Rhetorical Knowledge to Read and Evaluate Sources	624
Reading Your Sources Rhetorically	624 • Taking Effective Notes 626 • Evaluating Sources 628
Skill 5: Understand the Rhetoric of Web Sites	631

- The Web as a Unique Rhetorical Environment 631 • Analyzing the Purpose of a Site 632 • Reading Web Sites Rhetorically: An Illustration 632 • Evaluating a Web Source 639 • An Example: Applying Evaluation Criteria 639

CHAPTER 22 Using, Citing, and Documenting Sources 643

Skill 6: Use Sources Purposefully Through Clearly Attributed Summary, Paraphrase, or Quotation 643

Using Sources for Your Own Purposes 643

READING 644

Roger D. McGrath, "The Myth of Violence in the Old West" 644

Writer 1: Summary for an Analytical Paper on Causes of Violence 646 •

Writer 2: Partial Summary for a Persuasive Paper in Support of Gun Control 647 • Writer 3: Partial Summary for an Analytical Paper on Shifting Definitions of Crime 647 • Working Sources into Your Own Prose 648 • Creating Rhetorically Effective Attributive Tags 652 • Avoiding Plagiarism 656

Skill 7: Cite and Document Sources Effectively According to Appropriate Conventions 658

Understanding the Logic of Parenthetical Citation Systems 658 •

Understanding the MLA Method of In-Text Citation 661 • Documenting Sources in a "Works Cited" List (MLA) 662 • MLA Citation Models 663 • Formatting an Academic Paper in MLA Style 673 • Student Example of an MLA-Style Research Paper 674

Christopher Leigh (student), "The Case Against Metal Detectors in Public Schools" (MLA-Style Research Paper) 675

Understanding APA Style and Formatting 687 • APA Formatting for In-Text Citations 687 • Documenting Sources in a "References" List (APA) 688 • APA Citation Models 688 • Student Example of an APA-style Paper 693

PART FIVE

A Guide to Special Writing and Speaking Occasions 694

CHAPTER 23 Oral Communication: Working in Groups and Giving Speeches 697

About Working in Groups 697

Basic Principles of Successful Group Interaction 698

Avoid Clone-Think and Ego-Think 698 • Listen Empathically 699 • Play Assigned Roles 700 • Be Sensitive to Body Language 700 •

Invest Time in Group Maintenance 700 • Recognize How Personality and

Culture Affect Group Participation	701	•	Manage Conflict by Dealing with an “Impossible Group Member”	702
Thinking in Groups	703
Seeking Consensus	703	•	Brainstorming	704
Oral Rehearsal of Drafts	704
About Oral Presentations	705
Preparing Formal Speeches	705
Speech Outlines as Multipurpose Tools	706	•	Contents and Arrangement	707
Using Visual Aids to Support Your Presentation	708	•	Delivering a Formal Speech	709
Preparing and Delivering Impromptu Speeches	710
Handling Speech Anxiety	710
Chapter Summary	711

CHAPTER 24 Essay Examinations: Writing Well Under Pressure 713

How Exams Written Under Pressure Differ from Other Essays	714
Preparing for an Exam: Learning and Remembering Subject Matter	715
Identifying and Learning Main Ideas	715
Applying Your Knowledge	716
Making a Study Plan	716
Analyzing Exam Questions	717
Dealing with Constraints: Taking an Essay Exam	722
Guidelines for Producing Successful Responses	724
Chapter Summary	726

CHAPTER 25 Assembling a Portfolio and Writing a Reflective Self-Evaluation 727

Understanding Reflective Writing	728
What Is Reflective Writing?	728
Reflective Writing in the Writing Classroom	730
Why Is Reflective Writing Important?	731
Reflective Writing Assignments	731
Single Reflection Assignments	731
Guidelines for Single Reflection Assignments	732
READING 734
Jaime Finger (student), “A Single Reflection on an Exploratory Essay”	734
Comprehensive Reflection Assignments	735
Guidelines for Comprehensive Reflection Assignments	735

The Writing Portfolio as an Opportunity for Reflective Self-Evaluation	737
Keeping Track of Your Work	738 •
Selecting Work for Your Portfolio	738 •
Writing a Comprehensive Reflective Letter	739
READING	739
Bruce Urbanik (student), "A Comprehensive Reflective Letter"	740
Chapter Summary	741
Acknowledgments	747
Index	753